GOVERNOR IS BUSY SIGNING COMMISSIONS

Scores of Extra Police Qualified for Duty at the Mines.

STRIKE LEADERS PROMISE PEACE

Belief Exists in New York That the End Will Come Monday.

HANNA TALKS WITH MAN FROM MORGAN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, May 29.—Gov. Stone's principal work just now is signing commissions for coal and iron policemen in the anthracite regions. Every operator that owns a colliery or a washery seems bent upon securing the protection of extra policemen for his property. The strike leaders assured Stone at their meeting with him and Attorney General Elkin in this city on Tuesday that this extra force of officers was unnecessary and that there was no danger of an outbreak among the strikers.

The clerks in Stone's office were secluded in the executive clerk's room today and for several hours ground out commissions to the exclusion of all other business. The commission clerks in the state department were busy until late this evening filling in their part of the commissions.

Those in charge of this work were evasive when questioned as to the number of commissions issued today, but the number probably reached 300. This brings the total issue since the strike was declared to over 1,600 and arrangements have been made to issue additional commissions as expeditiously as possible.

Time-Savers in Use.

Blanks have been printed with the name of the coal company applying for the appointment of special police to save the time of writing in the name, as is usually done. Big stacks of blank commissions bearing the names of various coal companies have been prepared in anticipation of the rush and they are being rapidly depleted in execution of the large drafts of orders for the commissioning of police.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Among men well informed on the coal mining situation the opinion prevails tonight that Monday will see the end of the strike in the anthracite region, which affects 145,000 miners. Several powerful influences are said to be at work to bring about this result and the "tip" that the trouble is about over has spread through Wall street.

One significant thing happened during the day. Senator Hanna, chairman of the Civic federation, and George W. Perkins, representing J. P. Morgan & Co., were said to have been in conference in Cleveland discussing matters relative to the settlement of the strike. Mr. Hanna refused either to deny or affirm the report, while at the office of Morgan & Co. it was learned that Mr. Perkins is in Cleveland, but there was no admission that his visit to Senator Hanna's home had any connection with the coal strike.

Lederic Had Inside Tip.

Commissioner Lederle of the board of health, while discussing the probability of the continued use of bituminous coal because of the raise in price of hard coal caused by the strike, intimated that there would be little cause for further violations of the city's ordinance because of high-priced anthracite coal. The commissioner said he believed the strike would be ended by Monday. Asked what prompted the statement, he said he had good information. "I got the tip today from a man who is in authority on the situation," said Mr. Lederle. "It would be ended this week were it not that tomorrow and Saturday are holidays in Wall street."

It is believed that Senator Hanna desires to see the strike settled before it embraces the soft coal region.

Guardsmen Are Ready.

SCRANTON, PA., May 29.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding denials from Harrisburg that certain regiments of the National guard have been ordered in readiness for riots, the fact is that preparations along this line are under way. The members of the Thirteenth regiment in this city have all been waited upon by the corporals of the several companies and directed to make kits ready for duty. Inquiry among officers of the Thirteenth elicited no information on this subject. The coal companies in the Lackawanna region are preparing for some action. Today the fencing in of several of the largest breakers began.

General Superintendent Phillips of the Lackawanna company today said he had many applications for work, and that he would start one of his collieries as quickly as this force could be assembled at the place to work and the arrangements for their keeping and safety perfected. He claimed that nearly every engineer, fireman and pump runner of his company would remain at work on Monday. In fact, he was not aware that a single man of these occupations would strike.

FOR DUMPING SMALLPOX.

Three Physicians in Neighboring Towns Are to Be Arrested.

Positive evidence has been secured that Pittsburgh has been made a dumping ground for smallpox patients from many portions of Western Pennsylvania and a determined effort is to be made to stop the reprehensible practice. Arrangements are being perfected for the arrest of three physicians practicing at various points who have sent smallpox to this city to be cared for by the local health authorities. The doctors will be charged with violating an act of assembly, the informations being made by A. J. Pitcairn, superintendent of the bureau of health. Detective Richard Kelly has been out of the city for two days securing evidence against the physicians. One physician will be arrested in Monongahela City, another in Altoona and the third in Clairton.

LOOTERS AT WORK IN THE RUINS OF ST. PIERRE.

WAGES OF 3,000 TROLLEY MEN ARE ADVANCED

In Addition, Non-Accident Premiums Will be Paid in Six Months.

SECOND ADVANCE MADE THIS YEAR

Taking effect June 1 the 3,000 motormen and conductors of the Pittsburgh Railways Company will receive an advance of 1 cent per hour in wages. At the same time the company will try the experiment of paying non-accident premiums. One cent per hour extra is to be paid to all employes against whom no accidents resulting from their own carelessness are charged.

Next December these premiums will be distributed to men. Those who receive them will get from $20 to $25 each. This is the first time the non-accident premium has been tried in this city. If it proves a success by making employes more careful it will probably be continued. If not it will be discontinued after December 1.

The advance in wages is the second the Pittsburgh Railways Company has made since it assumed charge of all the trolley lines of Pittsburgh and Allegheny on January 1 last. At that time the company put into effect a uniform graded system of wages for conductors and motormen, ranging from 20 to 22 cents per hour. Men just entering the service of the company were paid 20 cents per hour. At the end of two years' employment the rate was increased to 21 cents per hour, and, after three years, 22 cents. The new rate, which goes into effect Sunday, gives one-year men 21 cents and three-year employes 23 cents per hour. The advance amounts from 10 to 12 cents per day. Under the new scale many employes can earn $85 or more per month.

Heavy hauling, which means heavy work, caused the company to grant the voluntary increase. The first knowledge the men will have of it will be a notice, general order No. 42, which was posted in all the car barns of the company early this morning, addressed to John Murphy, general superintendent, and reading as follows:

You are authorized to adjust the wages of conductors and motormen for platform labor, to take effect June 1, on the following scale: Up to one year, 20 cents per hour; one to two years, 21 cents per hour; two to three years, 22 cents per hour; three years and over, 23 cents per hour.

To inaugurate the accident premium system, the management is willing to pay the following premiums for the prevention of accidents: On December 1 a premium of 1 cent per hour, platform time, will be paid to all trainmen who are then in the service, and who have had no accidents for which the company has been required to pay during the intervening period. In case the total amount paid for any one man's accidents is less than the amount of his possible premium, he is to receive the difference.

It is to be understood that this system is to be an experiment for the term of six months, beginning June 1 and ending December 1, with no contract binding the company to its continuance, if for any reason it should prove ineffectual.

Miners' Strike at Blairsville.

BLAIRSVILLE, PA., May 29.—(Special.)—Three mines are now idle in the Blairsville district, the miners having joined the strikers today.

BUCKS MEN ARE FOR PENNYPACKER

Four of Five Delegates Declare for Him, Other Non-Committal--Were Claimed for Elkin.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 29.—Decisive action was taken today by four out of five of the Bucks county delegates to the Republican state convention. These delegates have been claimed by the Elkin people. This statement was today given to Chairman J. Hampton Moore, who made it public:

"We, the undersigned, delegates to the state convention, after due consideration, are of the opinion that the nomination of Samuel W. Pennypacker for governor will be for the best interest of the Republican party in this state, and especially for the party in the county of Bucks. We therefore declare our intention to vote for the nomination of the Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker for governor."

This statement is signed by Delegates B. F. Gilkeson, William H. Wollery, Robert M. Yardley and Evan R. Penrose.

John T. Fish, the other delegate, declared tonight that as he had not been instructed by the county convention he would reserve his decision until the state convention, or at least until he is fully satisfied as to the sentiment of his constituents. Those in a position to know assert that Mr. Fish favors Pennypacker and that he would have signed the paper prepared by his colleagues were it not for personal differences between himself and Mr. Gilkeson.

Advices from Tioga county are that Gov. Stone has renewed his compact with the Van Valkenburg brothers and the trio is doing some hard work for Elkin. Senator Merrick, who left tonight for Tioga, said he felt certain Judge Pennypacker would win at Saturday's primaries. Reports from York county indicate a Quay victory there.

An agreement was today entered into by the two Republican factions of Center county by which each will have one delegate. John P. Harris of Bellefonte is to vote for Pennypacker and George W. Hoover of Philipsburg will be chosen as the Elkin delegate. The movement is to help the county ticket.

FRANK G. HARRIS SHIELDS STONE-ELKIN MACHINE

The State Treasurer Refuses to Make Public the Depositories Holding the $3,600,000 Belonging to the Sinking Fund.

State Treasurer Frank G. Harris, in defiance of law, refuses to tell in what banks he is keeping the sinking fund of the state. On May 1 the fund amounted to $3,661,352 54. Harris says that he will do everything in his power to nominate John P. Elkin, the Stone candidate for governor.

The law says that Harris shall make public, if requested, the depositories of the sinking fund. Now, when there is a fight on for state delegates and the entire machinery of the state is being used to assist in the nomination of Elkin, Harris closes the doors of his office to the people and refuses to tell who has the use of the $3,600,000 of state money.

The inference, naturally, is that these millions are being used in the interest of Elkin's candidacy, and that to make public the names of the depositories, and probably individuals who have the money would be exposing the inner works of the plan of the Stone machine to own a governor.

How Politics Figure.

It is not meant that these $3,600,000 have been turned over to the Elkin campaign fund. That is not the way it is done. The money is safe enough. It is simply given to favored banks and the men behind these institutions are expected to assist in the election of Elkin delegates.

This money is usually sought by the banker. They pay the state 2 per cent for the use of it, and are thus able to earn a profit of from 3 to 4 per cent for themselves. It makes a good club for the Stone machine to use. There are several evidences that the club is being utilized. One of the best is the refusal of Harris to tell where he has the money. If he made public the list it might be a means of uncovering how Stone hopes to get various delegations for his man Elkin. The publication of the list would also probably disclose that some of the numerous banking institutions in which the governor is interested has a share of the money.

Division Will Soon Be Made.

Harris has just gone into office, and as a consequence, the board of revenue commissioners of which he, the auditor general and secretary of the commonwealth are members, will soon meet to decide what banks will have the use of the money for his term. The institutions that now have the fund have no doubt been informed of this. It is notice to them that friendliness to Elkin is to be considered when the depositories are elected. The state money will not be given out to men who are not disposed to help continue the Stone machine in power. This sinking fund commission is under the control of Gov. William A. Stone, the real manager of the Elkin candidacy.

Under the law it is the duty of the treasurer to make a statement giving the names of the banks, corporations, firms or individuals with whom the fund is deposited. He must also show what security is given the state and the rate of interest received. This statement shall be open to the inspection of any citizen of the state. When he was asked to give out the information he refused to do so.

General Fund Given Out.

Harris was willing to give out the names of the depositories having the general fund of the state. This list is made public each month. In glancing over the banks it is found that in most of the counties favored with depositories, the state delegates have been turned over to Elkin.

In Dauphin there are hundreds of thousands of dollars of the state money on deposit. In the recent delegate election, six of the seven votes were turned over to the Stone machine. Bradford county has a depository and Elkin has four instructed delegates from there. Berks county banks are on the list and Elkin gets seven votes. A like number of delegates are turned over to the machine from Chester county, where considerable state money is deposited. Twelve votes from Lancaster, three from Franklin, five from Northampton, four from Lebanon, five from Schuylkill and eight from Westmoreland may be credited, at least in part, to the treasury club of the Stone machine.

In this county the list of the depositories may assist in aiding some to determine the action of the local delegation: Allegheny National, Pittsburgh, $728,360 32; Freehold, now in Flinn's Colonial Trust Company, $231,622 12; American Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $150,000; Anchor Savings bank, Pittsburgh, $35,000; Allegheny Trust Company, $50,000; Columbia National bank, Pittsburgh, $200,000; Dollar Savings Fund and Trust Company, Allegheny, $50,000; Enterprise National, Allegheny, $307,000; Exchange National, Pittsburgh, $100,000; Farmers' Deposit, Pittsburgh, $204,000; First National, Oakdale, $10,000; Federal National, Pittsburgh, $50,000; German National, Allegheny, $13,313 06; German National, Pittsburgh, $35,000; Keystone, Pittsburgh, $50,000; Mercantile Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $70,000; People's Trust Company, Braddock, $20,000; Prudential Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $25,000; Second National, Pittsburgh, $100,000; Second National, Allegheny, $240,000; Union Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $85,000.

The above were the amounts on deposit here May 1, and exclusive of the sinking fund.

APPROACHED WITHIN A MILE OF THE CRATER

Guided by an Old Negress, a Newspaper Man Makes Ascent Before Latest Outbreak.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

FORT DE FRANCE, May 29.—George J. Kavanaugh, a newspaper man, succeeded on Tuesday afternoon in approaching within a mile of the main crater on Mont Pelee.

When Prof. Hill turned south toward St. Pierre, Mr. Kavanaugh continued on past Morne Rouge. He says he descended from Morne Rouge into the valley between Morne Rouge and Mont Pelee. This valley was deeply strewn with ashes.

Mr. Kavanaugh was guided by an aged negress, to where an old footpath once led to Lake Palmiste, near the summit of the crater. Before him stretched upward the mountain slope, covered with ashes, which, soaked by the heavy rains and baked by the sun and volcano heat, looked like a cement sidewalk. The whole mountain top was shrouded in smoke. Mr. Kavanaugh found the valley filled with ashes and two great rifts which he was afraid to approach.

He realized his danger only the next morning, when occurred the greatest outburst since Mone Pelee's first eruption.

On Wednesday Mr. Kavanaugh found a little hamlet in a valley near the mountain, black with 150 dead bodies. They were not carbonized, nor had their clothing been burned off.

COUNCILMEN ACQUITTED.

Jury Returns Verdict of Not Guilty in the Wheeling Bribery Cases.

WHEELING, W. VA., May 29.—(Special.)—The prosecution of members of council, indicted for an alleged conspiracy to extort a bribe of $50,000 for their votes upon the City Railway franchise, has failed.

Prosecuting Attorney Nesbitt stated that witnesses told different stories on the trial from those given to the grand jury. He found himself unable to secure any evidence against seven of the defendants and virtually agreed to a verdict of acquittal for them, but asked for the conviction of President Jesse Shafer, R. F. Hill and Philip Maurer, against whom direct testimony was given by Col. Henry Schmulbach and Councilman W. B. Cooey.

Defendants who took the stand swore that the combination was for the purpose of preventing the giving of bribes. The jury was out about 20 minutes and returned a verdict of not guilty.

SOLDIER DEAD OF THE NATION TO BE HONORED

Memorial Observances in Schools and Cemeteries.

THREE WARS WILL BE REPRESENTED

Veterans of Spanish, Civil and Mexican Struggles to March Together.

SCHOOL EXERCISES WERE HELD YESTERDAY

This is the season of honors to the dead soldiers of our country. Beginning yesterday and continuing through today, veterans of three wars unite with school children and guardsmen in paying tribute to America's soldier dead. The few bent and feeble survivors of the Mexican war will march with the fast disappearing "Boys in Blue" of '61, and athletic beardless veterans of the Spanish war and its prolongation in the Philippines.

Yesterday the school children were reminded of the day by holding exercises and the presentation of flowers to the veterans for decorating their dead comrades' graves. The flowers from all the South Side schools were gathered in great masses of bloom at the Humboldt school last night.

May 30 was set apart years ago as the day for commemoration of the gallant behavior of the thousands who gave up their lives in defense of their country. Within recent years it has become customary in Pittsburgh and Allegheny to have special exercises on the day before Decoration day and the custom was generally adhered to yesterday.

Even in the Twenty-third ward, where Prof. Joseph W. Logan refused to have exercises, the veterans managed to gain their point, and a program similar to that carried out in the other schools was gone through without any semblance of friction or unpleasantness.

Exercises in the Schools.

The general program pursued consisted of either songs by the pupils or a selected quartet or choir and patriotic speeches by members of the Grand Army of the Republic or people they had selected. In almost every program the singing of the national anthem "America" was included. In each school also the children either brought flowers or a collection was taken up to purchase blossoms to be placed about the graves of the men who fought and died for the union.

The first memorial exercises in the new Lemington school building, Lemington avenue, East End, were conducted yesterday afternoon and were attended by a great crowd, as the school building has only been occupied a month. The 500 children, each one bearing a flag in his hand, marched to the hall where the exercises took place.

Comrades James Matthews and R. N. Spohn of post No. 230 visited the Polish Parochial school in Brereton avenue yesterday afternoon for the exercises. Both addressed a gathering of some 700 children, under direction of the sisters. Both men say that it is only three years since the school was interested in holding exercises, but that each year the program has shown a great improvement.

Veterans Honor Dead Comrades.

This morning the annual Decoration day exercises will start, and the day will be given over to remembering the gallant dead. The different cemeteries of the city, in which lie the remains of the soldier dead, will be the scenes of the exercises and the graves will be marked with flowers and flags, and the deaths commemorated by the firing of salutes.

Posts Nos. 3, 41, 157, 206, 220, 259 and 480 will have charge of the exercises in the Allegheny cemetery, which are scheduled to begin at 9 o'clock this morning. Col. E. J. Allen Camp No. 162, Sons of Veterans, will also participate in the exercises. The day's exercises will open with a parade in the lower part of the city, after which the veterans will be taken to the cemetery in street cars. Superintendent McAleese has detailed 10 policemen for duty at the cemetery.

The program at the cemetery will start with a dirge by the band; song by Post 3 quartet; reading of orders; "The Union Soldier," by the choir; Lincoln's Gettysburg address; commander's address; prayer, the Rev. Dr. J. K. McClurkin; "Sleep, Comrades, Sleep," by the choir; oration, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Stanton; "The National Tribute," by the choir; depositing of flowers on the graves, saluting the dead; "Abide With Me," by the choir; benediction, Dr. McClurkin. Battery B will fire minute guns during the parade from Forty-third street to the cemetery, and a national salute at 12 o'clock.

At St. Mary's Cemetery.

The veterans who take part in the exercises at Allegheny cemetery will proceed to St. Mary's cemetery, adjoining, as soon as the first exercises have concluded. A program almost similar will be carried out there. There will be music, songs, reading of orders, prayer by the Rev. L. A. O'Connor, commander's address and an oration by the Rev. John G. Beane, and the placing of flowers on the graves.

Post No. 157 will hold memorial exercises in the Oakland and Minersville cemeteries, with a program almost the same as that used in the Allegheny and St. Mary's cemeteries. The services will open in the Oakland cemetery at 9:30 promptly. The grammar department of the Bellefield school will furnish a choir of 25 voices, and the Eighteenth Regiment band will participate. The Rev. N. L. Brown will be the speaker, and will also make a prayer and pronounce the benediction, which will conclude the exercises. Post No. 206 will hold the exercises in the Lincoln cemetery. The Rev. M. B. Lanier will deliver the oration of the day.

Allegheny and Southside.

In the Allegheny cemeteries the G. A. R. posts in Allegheny will conduct exercised this morning, with the same line of procedure used by their comrades on this side of the river. The South Side cemeteries will be looked after by posts on the South Side with the same kind of exercises.

Col. O. H. Rippey Circle No. 21 of the Ladies of the G. A. R. has announced that it will serve luncheon to all comrades in uniform in the Butler street Turner hall and they extend a most cordial invitation to all veterans to visit them.

Beside the general programs mapped out some of the posts will hold special exercises over the grave of some prominent man. Col. James H. Childs Post No. 230 has prepared a program to be carried out over the graves of Col. Childs in the Allegheny cemetery and the veterans will then go to the arsenal lot to assist the James A. Garfield Circle No. 15 Ladies of the G. A. R., in an exercise over the victims of the arsenal explosion in 1862.

In the Boroughs.

Memorial day will be generally observed in Braddock today. The members of Harper Post No. 181, G. A. R., accompanied by a number of Spanish-American veterans, and Braddock lodge Woodmen of the World, will march in a body to Braddock and Monongahela cemeteries, where addresses and exercises will be held. At the Braddock cemetery the Rev. G. E. Hawes, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will deliver the address. At the Monongahela cemetery the Rev. W. J. Bucher of the English Lutheran church will be the orator. The day will be observed by stores and business houses in the borough, but the mills will operate as usual. The Westinghouse works in East Pittsburgh, Wilmerding and Turtle Creek closed at 5:30 o'clock last evening and will not resume again until Monday morning.

At Homestead the members of the two Grand Army posts, accompanied by the Knights of Pythias, firemen and school children, will march to the Homestead cemetery, where the exercises will be held. Business will be suspended, but the Carnegie and other mills will not shut down.

Turtle Creek and Sewickley.

The memorial services at Turtle Creek will be under the charge of Turtle Creek council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. M. E. McKee of the Presbyterian church, the Rev. R. J. Bamber of the Christian church, and by the Rev. J. W. Shimp.

The exercises at Sewickley will consist of a parade and services at the cemetery. L. C. Greves will be commander, with Sidney J. Brandt, adjutant. Those taking part in the parade will be Alexander Hays Post No. 3, G. A. R.; Patterson Post No. 88, Allegheny; Sewickley Spanish War Veterans; Nevin Camp No. 23, Sons of Veterans; Washington infantry, Pittsburgh. The oration will be delivered by the Rev. N. L. Brown. At the grave of Col. John L. Nevin, George G. Nevin will deliver the oration.

JOKE ON ELLITHORPE.

Friendly Jest Enlivened Test of Air Cushions Under Union Station Elevators.

The Ellithorp safety air cushion was given another successful test last night in the Union depot, where elevators are equipped with air cushions. An elevator, weighing car and load possibly 2,500 pounds, was dropped from the top, or twelfth, floor to the air cushion and alighted with perfect ease, without breaking eggs or spilling water which had been placed in it. The elevator fell with great speed once it was cut lose and made such a noise that the spectators thought the car had been broken to pieces.

Chief Engineer W. H. Brown of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was interested in the test and had a representative in Pittsburgh to witness it. He also had given orders to be telegraphed as to the result and a telegram was sent him last night.

An amusing incident occurred relative to the eggs which were sent down in the elevator. From the test at the Frick building on Wednesday night a few eggs escaped whole. They were distributed among Ellithorpe's friends. One of them was placed with some others on top of the car which was dropped last night. It escaped unharmed with the others which were with it and the owner asked Mr. Ellithorpe to put his name on it for preservation as a souvenir.

Mr. Ellithorpe was very busy and said, "Wait until we get to the hotel." The friend in the meanwhile managed to get possession of a hard-boiled egg. Then he met Mr. Ellithorpe in the corridor of the Hotel Duquesne and asked him again to write his name upon the egg, at the same time offering the hard-boiled egg.

Another friend who was present, and in on the joke, said: "Oh, pshaw!" and immediately struck the egg to the floor. Off course, the hard-boiled egg did not break. Mr. Ellithorpe was dumbfounded for a moment and afterward admitted that if there had been a convenient hole in the ground he would have gladly plunged in when he saw that the egg did not break. When matters were explained there was a laugh all around.

JOHN DALZELL MAY BE OPPOSED FOR CONGRESS

Citizens Considering Whether They Will Have Candidate Against Him.

R. E. STEWART MENTIONED

It Is Said That His Nomination Would Bring the Support of C. M. Schwab to the Citizens' Party. Burke Has Another Chance.

Citizens party leaders are debating as to whether they will put a candidate in the field against Congressman John Dalzell. Some of the men who have the greatest influence in the party are inclined to the belief that opposition to Dalzell would be the proper policy for the anti-organization forces to pursue. Robert E. Stewart of Braddock is considered as the best man to oppose Dalzell.

The Citizens are firm in the belief that their entire ticket will be elected this fall. They expect a landslide and can see no particular reason for not putting up an entire ticket. So far Dalzell is the only man on the organization slate who has had any chance of escaping opposition.

A definite decision will probably not be reached in the Dalzell case until after the state convention. The Citizens leaders admit that there is considerable pressure upon them not to put a candidate in the field against Congressman Dalzell. So far no promises have been made one way or the other.

Line Out for Schwab.

In putting a candidate on the ticket against Dalzell the Citizens think that considerable strength for their entire ticket can be secured. Robert E. Stewart is a lawyer friend of Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation.

It is said that Schwab would like to see Stewart in congress. By placing the Braddock man on the ticket the Citizens are of the opinion that the influence of the head of the great steel corporation would be thrown to the Citizens party.

The Schwab influence is considered strong in the Dalzell district. Braddock and McKeesport are both in the territory and there are hundreds of friends of the president of the steel corporation in both towns. Then it is hinted that the most cordial relations do not exist between the Dalzells and the Schwabs. Some months ago the president of the steel corporation made a banquet speech in which he said that a college education was not a necessary requisite to success in the world. William Dalzell took exception to this and the correspondence that passed between the two gentlemen is said to have grown quite personal and left some sore spots.

Burke May Get Nomination.

James Francis Burke may be able to secure the Republican nomination for congress in the city district. The old organization leaders have given him a list of the delegates and told him that they will keep hands off, leaving the members of the convention free to nominate him if they so desire.

Burke may find that he has opposition today. Tonight Dr. W. J. Holland will decide whether he wants to try for the nomination. So far he has not been handed a list of the delegates, but he has some friends who are ready to make the fight for him. He had this to say last night: "The matter has been seriously presented to me today and I am considering it with some of my friends, but will not give a definite answer until Friday night."

In the meantime Burke is seeing the various ward leaders in his behalf. Their assistance is being sought in lining up the delegates in their wards.

Organization Owns Delegates.

The organization owns the delegates to the city congressional district convention. The leaders were not able to agree upon a candidate, so the ward leaders were ordered to put up delegates and have them ready to turn over to any man the organization would decide to nominate. These delegates are the ones Burke is endeavoring to convert. He has had several talks with Recorder J. O. Brown lately. Yesterday Burke was given a list of the delegates and told to see what he could do.

Some of the organization leaders say that it is difficult to tell what the convention will do. M. G. Leslie remarked that the nomination would be left entirely in the hands of the delegates. In such an event it might not be surprising if an entirely new man was taken up. It is possible that the nomination will be offered to some Republican who has not been spoken of so far. The delegates might have a string to them.

BOY BURGLAR SHOT.

Eleven-Year-Old Lad Is Wounded While Tampering With a Cash Drawer.

GREENSBURG, PA., May 29.—(Special.)—John Lindway, 11 years old, was shot in the right leg last night while burglarizing the store of the Federak Supply Company at Jacobs Creek. After closing the store Albert Hanko, a clerk, went to bed. He was awakened an hour later by a noise coming from the store room, and grabbing a revolver he hurried to the stairway. He heard some one tampering with the cash drawer. The light in the store room was dim and he could only distinguish the outlines of the "burglar." He fired and the boy fell.

The little fellow had found the key to the store which had been lost by a teamster. The boy will recover.

FURNACEMEN TO STRIKE.

Three Thousand Employes to Quit Work at Youngstown, O.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 29.—Three thousand blast furnace workers about equally divided in number between the Mahoning and Shenango valleys will quit work Sunday morning to enforce their demand for an eight-hour day and a three-shift force of workmen, each to have eight hours.

The union officials state that they will include the Pittsburgh district in the strike when the organization there is sufficiently thorough to warrant calling them out.

Hahn Wanted in New York.

COLUMBUS, O., May 29.—A requisition from the governor of New York for William Hahn of Mansfield, formerly state insurance commissioner of Ohio, was presented to Gov. Nash this afternoon and will be heard on Saturday. Mr. Hahn has been indicted in New York for the crime of grand larceny in connection with the reorganization and failure of the Manhattan Fire Insurance Company.

CHINESE ERECT GRANITE BOWLOW IN HOMEWOOD

Local Celestials Secure an Interment Ground of Their Own.

HAVE DECENT BURIALS

Chinese Cemetery Co. Has Been Organized, and in a Short Time Over 30 Bodies Will Be Reinterred With All the Oriental Ceremonies.

Pittsburgh has a Chinese graveyard. On a sunny hillside in the Homewood cemetery a plot of ground has been purchased by local Chinamen and will be consecrated shortly with all the fantastic pomp peculiar to the Celestial race.

A granite bowlow, or incense oven, was yesterday erected on the plot and within a few months will play a prominent part in the obsequies that will be performed, when over 30 bodies will be gathered into the new burial ground from other cemeteries. Pittsburgh's Chinese Memorial day will doubtless attract much attention.

The new burial ground is the realization of a dream long held by the Chinese residents of Pittsburgh. When death has invaded the local colony the bodies were interred temporarily in various cemeteries. Facilities for the ceremony which constitutes the "decent burial" of a Celestial were not at hand in the Christian burial ground, and John Chinaman felt the need of a place where the rites of his religion could be performed.

Ben Lee Designed the Bowlow.

With the assistance of the Rev. Dr. E. R. Donahoo, the Chinese Cemetery Company was organized and a plot of ground containing 2,500 square feet, in one of the most attractive parts of the Homewood cemetery was bought.

The bowlow was designed by Ben Lee, a well-known local Chinaman, and was erected by Campbell & Horigan, marble cutters of Penn avenue. The cemetery company insisted on having the stone altar conform to those used in China and F. B. Wilmarth of Campbell & Horigan made a trip to several western cities to study oriental designs in tombstone architecture.

The bowlow looks like a stone joss house in miniature. It is six feet high and five feet square, and is constructed of hammered-finished Barre granite. In the base is a bronze grate upon which the manuscripts and other effects of the deceased are burned with incense called "pong sticks." The ceremony is performed after the casket has been lowered into the grave and the ashes from the bowlow are sprinkled reverently over the coffin.

Granite Lined With Asbestos.

The interior of the granite structure is lined with asbestos to prevent damage to the stone, and the bowlow will stand for hundreds of years. Beside the oven is a granite tablet inscribed with Chinese characters and the English inscription—"Chinese Cemetery. Organized, 1901."

Only two bodies now repose in the burial plot. When the dedication takes place this summer the remains of Chinamen in other cemeteries will be reinterred in the ground. Within eight years after death all the bodies will be removed to China, where the ancient custom of gathering all members of families into the same burial place will be observed.

TWO MORE DEATHS.

Victims of Sheraden Disaster Succumbed to Their Serious Burns.

Two more victims of the Sheraden disaster died yesterday, swelling the death list to 26. Jerome P. Carlin, 19 years of age, a son of John Carlin, died at his home at West Carson and Main streets, South Side, in the morning, and Joseph Kuzi at 6:40 o'clock last night at the Homeopathic hospital.

Kuzi was 23 years old and married. He leaves a widow and family in Sheraden. He was employed by the railroad company and was at work in the Panhandle yards at the time of the explosion. He was horribly burned all over the body and when he was admitted to the hospital the staff physicians said he could not recover.

LITTLE GIRL'S BRAVERY IN FACE OF MISFORTUNE

Eleven-Year-Old Mary Gue Wants to Support Her Brother and Sister.

DEATH'S WORK IN HOME

Mother, Father and Baby Brother Closely Follow One Another Into the Grave--Little Mary, Now Head, Wants to Keep It Together.

"I believe I could sell newspapers in the daytime and books at night and in this way make enough money to provide for my little brother and sister. When I get older and stronger I would like to take a course at a business college, and then I know I could make enough money to send them to school. I want us all to be together and will not part from my brother and sister."

These were words spoken by little 11-year-old Mary Gue, whose father, James Gue, was killed in the Pittsburgh yards of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last Saturday morning, and whose mother died seven weeks preceding the death of her father. At the death of her father and mother four children survived.

James Gue was buried last Monday afternoon from his home in Flowers avenue, Hazelwood, and when the funeral party returned from the cemetery another member of the family, Ittie David, 4½ years old, had succumbed to measles and pneumonia. James, a boy aged 7, has the measles, and is in a very precarious condition.

Brave Little Girl's Struggle.

Little Mary has been unable to attend school during the present year on account of the sickness of the other members of the family. When her mother died she alone took charge of the home and performed nobly all the household duties. She ministered to the children and her father, and if was just two weeks ago that the father was able to resume work.

When the neighbors wanted to take the little ones and have Mr. Gue go to a boarding house little Mary interfered and would not allow the home to be broken up. She worked day and night to keep the family together, and last Saturday, when the news of her father's death came to her the child almost died from grief.

After the funeral of her father last Monday little Mary was persuaded to remove the children to the residence of H. K. Gardner, across the street. The funeral of the baby was held Wednesday, and since that time the brave little girl has given her entire time to the care of her child brother, James, who is lying at the Gardner home in a very serious condition.

Neighbors' Kindness.

Although having a family of her own to care for, Mrs. B. Gardner, the wife of H. K. Gardner, general yardmaster of the Monongahela Connecting railroad, has been caring for the unfortunate orphans for several days. Mrs. Gardner said yesterday she was fortunate in being able to care for the little ones, and will look after them until homes are found for them.

Many people have called at the Gardner home to see the children, and some have offered to take the little ones and give them good homes, but little Mary will not hear to being separated from her brother and sister. The children are all bright, and especially Mary, who believes she can keep the surviving members of the family together and provide for them.

Friends and neighbors of the family will appear in court and ask that a guardian be appointed for the children. The father left railroad insurance amounting to $2,200.

Wabash Gains by Court Decision

IMPORTANT RULING ON RIGHT OF WAY

Decision in Paton Case Partly Nullifies Homestead Clause in Act of 1849.

A decision of high importance to railroads in general and the Wabash in particular was handed down yesterday by Judge Marshall Brown in common pleas court. The decision, as it is understood, declares invalid, in part, the homestead clause of the act of 1849, which exempts a dwelling, occupied by its owner, from the exercise of the right of eminent domain possessed by railroad companies.

The decision was in the case of Andrew Paton, who asked for an injunction against the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western, to restrain it from appropriating his property, which lies on the proposed line of the road into this city. Paton owns and occupies property on Castro street in the Thirty-sixth ward, and the company gave bond to him in the sum of $5,000 for any damage that might result from the construction of its line.

The court in deciding the case reaffirmed the opinion of Judge S. A. McClung, which gave the right to street crossings, to the Wabash, without the passage of ordinances by the city councils. After reviewing the case, the court declared that the right of a railroad company in these matters is not measured by what is desirable and convenient; but by what is necessary for the reasonable occupancy of a dwelling, and access thereto. In Paton's case, a retaining wall, which was to be built by the company, would cut off access from one street, but would still leave the property with another street exit.

The court also holds that the railroad has the right to cross under Castor street, without the consent of the city of Pittsburgh, declaring that the city cannot deny the right to a crossing, although it may contest the method of crossing, and even in regard to the method, both the city and railroad company have rights, and in case they cannot reach an agreement, the courts have power to decide the controversy.

Judge Brown declares that while longitudinal occupancy of a street or highway would be subject to the consent of a city, because such occupancy would be a matter of convenience only for the railway, crossing of highways is unavoidable in reaching the freight and passenger traffic of populous cities and towns, and being an absolute essential to the construction and operation of the line, cannot be denied under the constitution.

In conclusion the court dismisses Paton's appeal for an injunction and places the costs on him.

Frick's Road for Southwest Coke.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., May 29.—(Special.)—The development of the coal and coke interests of Oklahoma territory is the purpose of the Fort Smith & Western railroad, backed by H. C. Frick, the coke king of Pittsburgh. The construction of the road, the cost of which Mr. Frick guarantees, is going ahead rapidly, and already 180 of the 215 miles are practically completed. It will be one of the finest railroad properties in the southwest, being built in the most substantial manner. The grade is less than one-half of 1 per cent, and 80 per cent of the line is without curves of the slightest degree. It will be possible for one engine to haul 75 loaded cars from Fort Smith to Guthrie. The trade which the road will develop will be largely with Mexico. Massive mining machinery is being installed in the mines and coke plants at Chant

City and McCurtain, and these two towns are growing rapidly. The Fort Smith & Western crosses six lines of railway, the Missouri Pacific, the 'Frisco, the Kansas City Southern, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, the Santa Fe and the Rock Island. It will be completed early next year.

No Special Rates for Elks.

All the lines in this territory have agreed upon granting the Elks of nearby towns only the regular party and excursion rates. An effort was made by the Pittsburgh lodge of Elks to secure special rates on account of the dedication of the new club house of the lodge next month, when elaborate exercises will be held. The companies, however, did not believe that the attendance would justify the rates. The party fares west of Pittsburgh are 2 cents a mile for parties of 10 or more; one fare for the round trip for parties of 50 or more; 1¼ cents a mile for parties exceeding 100, and 1 cent a mile for parties of 200 or more.

Henry E. Tripler Promoted.

Henry E. Tripler, assistant engineer of the branch lines of the Pennsylvania east of Pittsburgh and Erie, has been appointed assistant real estate agent of the same lines. The vacancy was created by the promotion of B. W. Carskadden, to take effect June 1. Mr. Tripler has served on the various branch lines of the road in engineering positions, and is well known over the whole Pennsylvania railroad.

RAILROAD NOTES.

There will be special excursions on all the Pittsburgh lines today on account of the Decoration day holiday.

E. T. Thorne has been appointed agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie at Adelaide, near New Haven, Pa., to succeed H. O. Smith. Mr. Smith has been made operator at Beaver.

The St. Louis & Newport News Railroad Company has been incorporated in Missouri to build through Illinois to the seaboard, the supposed eastern terminus being Newport News.

One result of the Pennsylvania training of President Leeds of the Rock Island is seen in his report under that the maintainance of way department be placed under the supervision of the general manager.

Shippers of anthracite coal in this territory have received formal notice from the Pennsylvania railroad that demurrage charges of $1 a day will be charged on all cars detained over four days at Greenwich Harbor, Perth Amboy, Hurstmans Cove and Baltimore. The reason for the demurrage charge is that the cars are being used for storage by speculators, who expect a rise in the price of soft coal on account of the anthracite strike.

FORTY-EIGHT NEW DOCTORS CREATED

DEGREES CONFERRED BY WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE.

Six Others, Not Graduated Yesterday, Will Ultimately Receive Degrees. Commencement Exercises in the Alvin Theater Largely Attended.

The sixteenth annual commencement of the Western Pennsylvania Medical college, the medical department of Western university, was held yesterday afternoon in the Alvin theater. The theater was filled with the relatives and friends of the graduating physicians. Forty-eight degrees were conferred by the faculty of the college and among the newly-made physicians were two women.

The master of ceremonies was Prof. J. C. Lange, M. D., dean of the college. The faculty, arrayed in caps and gowns, occupied the stage, Dr. John A. Brashear, acting chancellor of the university, being in the center with the shoulders of his black gown surmounted by a mantel of yellow. The class occupied seats in the center of the parquet and were also gowned and capped in black.

In the balcony and gallery were the students of the university, who followed the ceremonies with intermittent applause and at intervals a college yell and a united thump of feet on the floor.

The exercises were opened by a prayer by the Rev. J. R. J. Milligan.

Prof. S. C. Milligan, M. D., followed with the valedictory address. In his remarks he called the attention of the class to the jealousy of its profession and urged that a singleness of purpose predominate the courses of the young physicians in life.

He spoke of the advancement of the medical science and mentioned Porto Rico, where smallpox had raged for 400 years and had then been practically stamped out by the American introduction of vaccination. "But," he continued, "the great white germ of tuberculosis and the monster cancer still remain unconquered and contain the one great victory to be achieved by the science." He added that the world was no longer one of aristocratic precepts and that the question is not now who is the father, but who is the son? In all the fields of the world, he said, the deed now marks the man.

Prof. J. Milton Duff, M. D., with short presentation remarks, handed the prizes, consisting of cases of surgical instruments, to Richard J. Behan, William H. Glynn and H. N. Welsh, who had attained the highest averages in specific branches.

The Brinton prize, which is an annual prize at the request of the late donor, was handed to Mr. Behan; the prize in medicine to Mr. Welsh, and the Thomas memorial prize to Mr. Glynn.

The class, following roll call, which they answered by rising, marched to the stage, where the presentation of the diplomas were made by Dr. Brashear. They were awarded to the following:

The benediction, pronounced by the Rev. Dr. J. Crolius White, concluded the exercises.

The class honormen were: Richard J. Behan, Clyde W. Curll, Lewis L. Fichthorn, William H. Glynn, John P. Hegarty, Henry C. Lane, Elizabeth L. Martin, H. M. Welsh.

Seven members of the class were not graduated. One of them, owing to sickness, was not able to take the final examinations, and six were notified of their recommendation by the faculty to the trustees for graduation. The trustees, owing to a change of the percentage required to pass the student in surgery, which the six students failed to make, took action, requiring them to take the examinations next year.

The graduating class held a reception for the members of the college faculty at the Seventh Avenue hotel last night. One hundred and fifty guests were seated at the banquet tables.

MANY GRADUATED IN THE BOROUGHS

School Commencements Were Numerous and Many Young People Received Diplomas.

The annual commencement exercises of the Wilkinsburg High school were held last evening in the Presbyterian church. The program was an elaborate and entertaining one. The presentation of diplomas was made by Dr. F. R. Stotler, president of the school board. The graduates were: Katherine C. Shaughnessy, Raymond H. Anderson, Nancy W. Bowman, Laird M. McAllister, Nina M. Linbart, Elizabeth Fisalis, Zora B. Graham, Anna B. Parvin, Alice Johnson, Helen I. Stockton, York Cochen, Joseph C. Morrow, Blanche B. Wallace, Brenda E. Marshall, Francis S. Magill.

All records in attendance in Carnegie hall, Homestead, were broken last night at the commencement exercises of the High school. Eight orators had been selected from the class of 16. Prof. J. C. Kendal presented the diplomas. Dr. Lincoln Hully of Bucknell university addressed the class, taking for his subject "Qualities That Win." The members of the graduating class were: Anna C. McWhinney, Myrtle E. Keyser, Lyda J. Stewart, LeMira McCleery, Ximena M. Laird, Darlie Shoemaker, Pansy E. Jones, Margaret A. Rowlands, Harry R. Skirboll, John Smart, Eleanor M. Brennan, Edna M. Tippett, Mayme Corchran, R. M. McAnulty, Mary E. Van Horn and Charles F. Engle.

The second annual commencement of the High school maintained by the school boards of East Pittsburgh, Wilmerding and Turtle Creek was held last night in Y. M. C. A. hall, Wilmerding. There were 12 graduates.

The commencement exercises of the Esplen Public schools were held at Fraternal hall, McKees Rocks, last night. There were 12 members of the graduating class and the hall was filled. The exercises were under the direction of Prof. L. M. Caldwell.

CLASS WAS DISQUALIFIED

Twenty Young Women Composing Normal Class of McKeesport High School Are Indignant.

The entire normal class of the McKeesport high school, consisting of 20 young women, has been disqualified. At a meeting of the board of directors last night, the claim was made that the students had passed an illegal examination. The school board is supposed to send out a public notice of the examination in order that a committee of directors may attend if they so desire.

It appears that Superintendent H. Brooks sent out the notice, but no committee was present at the examination, at which Brooks passed the young men and recommended that they be given teachers' certificates. This has been refused and the entire class will be compelled to stand another examination. The young women are very indignant.

Probably Last of Read's Case.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—(Special.)—Secretary Root today virtually decided to accept the decision of the supreme court in the case of Capt. Deming, by ordering the release from federal prisons of officers of volunteers who were court-martialed and convicted by a court composed in part or in whole of officers of the regular army. There are 27 such prisoners. Capt. Read of Pittsburgh is already out on a writ of habeas corpus.

O'BRIEN LOST NO TIME IN GETTING THIS MAN IN TOW

While Leaving Orders for Gardner's Apprehension the Man Appeared.

IS WANTED IN KENTUCKY

New Straw Hat Fails to Bear Out Statements He Made—Is Said to Be a "Short Change" Artist and Capture is Considered Important.

After an exciting chase in the vicinity of the federal building yesterday afternoon Postoffice Inspector Frank O'Brien captured John Y. Gardner, alias J. Watson, who has been hunted over a large part of the country by United States secret service men. Gardner is alleged to be one of the most notorious crooks of the "short-change" species in the country.

Yesterday Inspector O'Brien received a telegram from the chief postoffice inspector in Cincinnati stating that Gardner was thought to be bound for Pittsburgh and asking that he be apprehended on the charge of defrauding the postmaster at Winchester, Ky. The telegram stated that Gardner would probably call at the Pittsburgh postoffice for a letter mailed from a town in Illinois.

It was about noon when Inspector O'Brien received the telegram. He went into the postoffice to give instructions to the clerk at the general delivery window to notify him if any person by the name of John Y. Gardner called for mail. While the inspector was standing inside at the general delivery window, in the act of writing down Gardner's name on a slip of paper, a man approached the window and asked if there was a letter for J. Y. Gardner.

Fell Right to O'Brien's Hand.

Inspector O'Brien pricked up his ears and asked him where he was expecting a letter from. Gardner mentioned the Illinois town named in the telegram. The inspector was taken by surprise, but said: "Wait a minute outside. I want to see you."

There is no door near the general delivery window and the inspector was compelled to go around to the rear of the postoffice near the Cherry alley side. He dashed through the postoffice, but when he arrived in front of the general delivery window he found that his man had taken alarm and had fled. The inspector hurried out into the street, but Gardner was out of sight. The inspector then made a circuit around the postoffice. He saw Gardner standing on Fourth avenue, above Cherry alley, and by making a fast run and dodge about the federal building he was enabled to catch Gardner unawares.

The man was taken before Commissioner W. T. Lindsay and a charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States of $40 of money order funds at Winchester, Ky., placed against him. In default of $500 bail Commissioner Lindsay committed Gardner to jail to await an examination.

New Hat Gives Him Away.

An inspector is expected to arrive today from Kentucky with the evidence against Gardner.

Gardner gave his name as J. Watson and Niagara Falls as his home. He said he was a gambler and turfman by profession and a sheet writer at races. He claimed to have come here from Cleveland, O., Wednesday night and to have registered at the Seventh Avenue hotel. It was found that his statement regarding the Seventh Avenue hotel was correct, but the inspectors found inside his straw hat, which was not more than a day or two old, the name of a Cincinnati hat dealer. Gardner is 30 years of age, about medium height and weight, and has blonde hair and mustache. The inspectors are certain that they have captured the man who has been victimizing a large number of postoffices throughout Kentucky and other southern states recently, and consider Gardner a good catch.

LOCOMOTIVE CAPTURES RUNAWAY CIRCUS TRAIN; MANY DIPLOMAS ARE ISSUED TO STUDENTS

ENGINE CAUGHT RUNAWAY CARS

Flying Coupling Was Made to Stop a Menagerie Train.

FAST RIDE DOWN A GRADE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANA, PA., May 29.—Engineers Robert McKee and William Davis, with a locomotive, had an exciting time for six miles last night in pursuit of 10 runaway cars filled with circus animals down the long grade from this town, and finally brought the cars to a standstill after making a flying coupling.

Station Agent D. A. Cunningham gave the alarm, which probably averted a disaster to the menagerie. A circus exhibited here yesterday and as the cars were being loaded for departure last night Agent Cunningham discovered the menagerie section of the train moving off a siding to the main track, unaccompanied by an engine. He boarded the cars and found that the train was unmanned and that but one brake was in working order. He set the brake, but it had no effect on the increasing speed of the train.

Mr. Cunningham jumped from the cars and ran back to the yards, informing Engineers McKee and Davis of what was happening. The engineers immediately took a locomotive and started in pursuit of the cars, which were now running at a furious rate down the steep grade.

The chase continued for six miles, when the animal cars were overhauled. By making a coupling while the locomotive and cars were running at a lively rate the menagerie was brought to a halt and hauled back to the yards.

The treasurer of the circus was in one of the runaway cars making up his cash, and he was apparently less excited over the affair than the circus crew when they discovered that the menagerie had disappeared.

MANUFACTURE OF ALUMINUM.

Pittsburgh Reduction Company Still Sole American Producer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—(Special.)—A bulletin just issued by the geological survey contains the following paragraph regarding aluminum:

"The production of aluminum in the United States during 1901 amounted to 7,150,000 pounds. The Pittsburgh Reduction Company, operating the Hall patents, remains still the sole producer of aluminum in this country. The price of aluminum a pound remained practically stationary throughout the year, although the demand for the metal increased. The total imports of all forms of aluminum in 1901 were valued at $100,748, as compared with $50,444 in 1900."

COKE PRODUCTION LARGELY INCREASED

Eastern Consumers Paying a Premium for Connellsville Output.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., May 29.—The Courier will say tomorrow:

Coke production in the Connellsville region last week was about 2,000 tons greater than the record figures of the previous week. The railroads kept the operations in cars except at very few plants, where some stock had to be piled up. The loss in shipments was all in coke billed to Pittsburgh. Both the western and eastern shipments were greater than they were the previous week, while the number of cars shipped west was nearly 600 cars short of what they were the week of May 17. Usually Pittsburgh shipments fare well and it is likely that the little slump here last week was due to the fact that coke that would have gone there if badly needed was diverted to other points where demand for it is more urgent. Despite that, coke is quoted at $2.25 a ton, western consumers are taking all they can get, spot delivery at $2.50 a ton. Some has been bought at as high as $2.75 a ton.

The detailed report of the operation and output of the region for the week ending Saturday, May 24, shows a total estimated production of 248,571 tons, compared with 246,701 tons the previous week. This was made with 20,653 ovens in blast, 772 ovens of the total 21,425 ovens in the region being idle. The average working time throughout the region was a fraction less than six days. All of the Frick plants worked full time and the smaller works whose coke the Frick company takes were kept busy the entire week. The furnace ovens and the companies operating independently had enough cars to handle their coke during the week, and consequently made full time.

Shipments for the week aggregated 12,064 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river ripples, 3,596 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 5,968 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 2,450 cars. This was a decrease of 139 cars compared with the shipments of the previous week.

In the lower Connellsville region all but three of four plants made six days. One small works made half time and two others laid off one day. The estimated production was 84,667 tons, compared with 85,675 tons the previous week.

LIVELY SESSION IS EXPECTED IN THE ASSEMBLY

Warm Debate Looked for in United Presbyterian Body Today.

CREED REVISION IS CAUSE

Lake Presbytery Almost Precipitated Trouble Yesterday by Memorial for Radical Changes, but It Was Headed Off.

The Lake Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church stormed the general assembly of that body in the Eighth church yesterday with a memorial for a revision of the present "membership covenant." The attack came so unexpectedly that the body was, figuratively, taken off its feet. The reason for this was that it was waiting every minute for the committee on membership covenant appointed at the last assembly to report. The hottest kind of debate was in prospect, but was headed off.

The Rev. J. T. McCrory, chairman of the "covenant committee" appointed last year, delivered his report, which included numerous recommendations for revision of the present form, but did not give such latitude to the candidate for admission to the church as the Lake presbytery would.

Both the memorial from Lake presbytery and the report of the "covenant committee" were referred to separate special committees, which will report today. A battle may be expected on the floor of the assembly when these committees report.

Differences of Opinion.

The Rev. Dr. J. T. McCrory hinted yesterday that there was little danger of the Lake presbytery's proposition being accepted, as it would eventually do away with the Westminster confession.

"I feel sure that the general assembly will adopt our report tomorrow," Dr. McCrory said to a Gazette reporter.

"The intention of our committee is not to get away from the great principles of our faith, or lessen, in any degree, the influence of these principles, but to give the candidate ample opportunity of studying them. Of course, some modifications have been made, but there has been no going away from the bulwarks of the church."

On the other hand, the Rev. John A. Henderson of the Brown avenue church of Erie, framer of the Lake presbytery's revision, insists that it aims at bringing the gospel to such a point that the world will be glad to accept it.

Westminster Confession Attacked.

The essential variance between the two is in the "law of adherence" to the Westminster standard. The covenant committee does not refer to the confession save generally, but suggests means by which prospective members may be admitted and at the same time binds them to accept certain principles of the church before being admitted.

The Lake presbytery, however, aims directly at the Westminster standard and at the same time takes the opportunity to deliver a body blow at the "covenant committee" by stating that "the statement of theological views should not be embraced in a membership covenant," and likewise states that the committee provides for a "change of policy, but inconsistently does not make provision for the repeal of the absolute law of adherence, as found in the closing paragraph of the introduction to the testimony."

Separate committees were appointed to investigate the merits of each and to report as early as possible.

The Lake presbytery's memorial was presented by the Rev. Dr. David Reed Miller, stated clerk of the presbytery, and regarded as one of the most prudent men in the church.

One of the most heated discussions in the history of the church will be brought out today when the committees report. The chief points of the Lake presbytery's memorial which are regarded by some as getting away from the bulwarks of the faith are the following:

Second—To provide for the corresponding, and therefore necessary change in the fundamental law touching the administration of the standards. This part of the double proposition may be overturned in one or two ways, at assembly's discretion:

Either, first. By an act to strike out the real law of adherence as contained in the concluding paragraph of the introduction of the testimony, as follows: "An adherence to the Westminster standards before referred to, and to the declarations contained in the following testimony will be required of those seeking communion with us. An assent to the argumentation and illustration under each declaration, cannot with propriety be demanded as a term of communion, but these parts may be useful as a guide to the meaning of the declaration."

Substitute Proposed.

Or, second. By an act to substitute for said concluding paragraph, substantially the following: "A desire and willingness to receive instruction in Christian doctrine and practice as set forth in the Westminster standards before referred to, and in the declarations of the following testimony, and a purpose to yield to the will of God as under such instruction that will become known; will be required of those seeking communion with us."

The contest for the moderatorship, as stated in The Gazette, narrowed down to two prominent ministers. The result of the balloting showed a majority for the Rev. Dr. J. C. Wilson of the First church of Erie. The Rev. Dr. J. C. Boyd received a handsome vote, and gave Dr. Wilson a hard fight. Dr. Boyd presided for some time yesterday afternoon.

The new moderator is one of the most prominent workers in the church. He was born in Xenia, O., in 1853, and graduated from Jefferson college in '64. He was licensed in 1867 by Xenia presbytery and ordained three days afterward. He has been pastor of the First church, Erie, since 1876.

The Rev. Dr. George D. Matthews of London, England, delivered an address during the afternoon session on foreign missions.

Routine Work of Day.

The routine work consisted of the reading of lengthy reports from various standing and special committees. Of unusual interest was the report on revision of the book of government. It requested that the committee be continued and two additional members be added. The committee was continued and the membership increased.

The report of the committee on narrative and state religion showed a net gain in membership of over 2,000 since the last assembly meeting. One half of this gain was in mission fields. During the year 28 ministers died, the average age being 74 years. Of the church membership 1,763 deaths were reported.

This report struck a blow at the Presbyterian body, for its revision of the Westminster standard, and deplored the fact that the Methodist denomination had to dismiss Prof. Pearson from the Northwestern university for his declaration that he had no faith in the miracles of Christ.

Continuing this report added facetiously that there had been but few special showers of spiritual blessing during the year, "due, probably, to the failure of crops or the beef trust's raise in its multifarious products."

Committees Were Named.

Moderator Wilson announced the following committees for the year:

SATISFACTORY REPORT.

Board of United Presbyterian Church Extension Shows Excellent Results from Year's Work.

One of the most satisfactory reports presented briefly yesterday before the general assembly was that of the board of church extension. This board was organized in 1859, the Rev. Dr. John T. Pressly, deceased, being the first chairman. The Rev. M. M. Patterson of Wilkinsburg, and the Rev. Dr. A. G. Wallace of Sewickley are president and secretary, respectively. The amount paid to congregations during the past year was $52,257 60; against $41,000 the previous year. The receipts from all sources total $89,128 18; the total payments $88,162 58. Balance to hand April 30, 1902, $1,035 60. The total appropriations for the year amounted to $56,110. The committee concludes its report as follows:

In view of the transfer of the parsonage work to the women's board, the parsonage fund has been added to the general fund. The total amount of the permanent fund is now $155,000 08. Of this amount $17,700 is subject to annuity. The loans from these funds, except to congregations, are made on first mortgage security. Each mortgage is carefully examined and the value of the property ascertained by a competent attorney and the committee of finance. The indications are that the work for the coming year will require a much larger amount than heretofore. The appropriation by the general assembly should, therefore, be not less than last year, $55,000, and if possible it should be increased to $60,000.

SERIOUS ILLNESS THREATENS KNOX

DR. RIXEY THINKS ATTORNEY GENERAL IS OUT OF DANGER.

Patient Was Menaced by Pneumonia and Bright's Disease After a Drive in Which He Had Become Thoroughly Chilled—President Called.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald Co.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—It was learned today that the condition of Attorney General Knox was much more serious yesterday than his friends at that time were willing to admit, and for a time it was feared that the attorney general's illness would take a turn which might result fatally, or, at least, permanently impair his constitution.

When the violent change in the weather came on Tuesday, Attorney General Knox, taking a drive in light clothing, got thoroughly chilled, and the result was congestion of almost his entire system. Serious illness came on that night, and by application of hot baths and other remedies the trouble was kept in check until a physician was summoned yesterday morning.

Surgeon General Rixey of the United States navy attended the attorney general and found that he was not only threatened with pneumonia, but also with acute Bright's disease. This latter was so serious a phase as to cause the greatest anxiety. The home treatment to which Mr. Knox was subjected was the very best thing, he said, that could be done, and he found the attorney general in a much improved condition today. He thinks all danger passed.

Mr. Knox, however, will be compelled to keep his bed during the rest of the week.

The serious change in his condition yesterday was known to very few persons outside of the cabinet circle, and that was what caused President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou, to make a call on the attorney general at his house, while returning from the funeral of the British ambassador.

Mr. Knox generally enjoys perfect health, and he is very reluctant to remain in bed, not only because of his active habits, but because just at this time the department is overrun with business of importance in connection with the trust suits and the prosecution of customs frauds.

MAY WITHDRAW APPLICATION.

Diamond Light, Heat & Power Co. Has Little Hope for Franchise.

The Diamond Light, Heat and Power Company, which is applying for a franchise from the city to enter into competition with the Philadelphia Company and the City Electric Company, may withdraw its application. George E. Turner of the Keystone Engineering Company is one of the incorporators of the company.

Mr. Turner said yesterday: "The project is in a very hazy condition. It looks as though it would be impossible for us to get a franchise from the city, and if we cannot get a franchise we will furnish electric light only in one square down town.

Charles H. McKee of the firm of Lyon, McKee & Mitchell, attorneys for the Diamond company, said that the new company had not yet obtained a charter from the state, but was applying for one. The incorporators of the Diamond company are W. M. Laird, J. W. Chessright, Owen McCann, Wallace Barr and George E. Turner.

The Angelus Orchestral Piano Player

What great musicians and musical people say of this wonderful instrument; the only really perfect-ideal, PIANO PLAYER.

Testimonial from the celebrated Composer of the "CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA": "The Angelus is a wonderful virtuoso-pianist, and at the same time a very good organist.

"Thanks to its marvelous means of expression, it can give the complicated pieces more life and soul than any other instrument of its kind is able to give.

"Bravo to the inventors!"

"(Signed) PIETRO MASCAGNI."

"WARSAW, April 4, 1902.

WALTER DAMROSCH, the popular orchestra conductor, says: "Astonishing, wonderful—how is it done? Why, I had no idea it was so perfect. You surprise me. Now, would you mind playing 'Le Rouet d'Omphale,' by Saint-Saens? Thank you. We play that so much, and it is a great favorite of mine."

JOSEF HOFMANN, the world renowned pianist, says: "Gentlemen—I have heard the Angelus Orchestral for the first time and am amazed at the tone and combination of this instrument.

"It has always been my ideal to hear the short notes in connection with the long ones, and it is the ambition of all intelligent pianists to sustain the tone in some manner or other. This is all embodied in the Angelus Orchestral, and therefore listening to this instrument affords exquisite pleasure and is a boon to all lovers of music."

Enclosed find my check for the Angelus Orchestral purchased for my home in Berlin. You will kindly ship the instrument at once, as I want to enjoy it upon my return to Berlin.

Yours Very Truly,
JOSEF HOFMANN.

JEAN DE RESZKE, the great opera singer and favorite of all the high musical art circles of Europe and America, says: "Gentlemen—Although in knowledge of several self-playing instruments, it remained for the 'Angelus' Piano Player to give me a genuine surprise in respect to its many musical effects. You have certainly succeeded in producing a touch both light and smooth, thus taking the 'Angelus' out of the class of automatic piano players.

"You have my best wishes for success as well as hearty indorsement. Please ship my instrument in time to greet me on my arrival in Paris, if possible, and oblige, Yours, (Signed) JEAN DE RESZKE."

And thus we might fill pages of this paper with enthusiastic letters from the great musical geniuses of the age, but cull these few from the hundreds of similar letters and testimonials given the great and only perfect Piano Player.

All who love music should call and hear this wonderful instrument. Whether you wish to buy or not, you will be sure to tell your friends and sound its praises.

ATTORNEYS TRY TO PROVE MRS. M'CLOY INSANE

She Denounced All Testimony Against Her as a Pack of Lies.

CONTRADICTED WITNESSES

Court Had Busy Time Keeping the Plaintiff from Riding Rough Shod Over Everything—The Rev. J. M. Thomas Denied Her Story.

Mrs. Sarah E. McCloy, who is trying her own case in common pleas court No. 1 against the Rev. J. M. Thomas, pastor of the Union Baptist church, for $10,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry, yesterday fought each point raised, though she acknowledges she is ignorant of the technicalities of the law. In the efforts of Attorney J. Scott Ferguson to obtain a non-suit for his client, Dr. Thomas, he was met by the widow in her characteristic way, she denouncing the testimony of the witnesses as a pack of lies and declaring she had witnesses to prove it.

Her experience in court has familiarized her with many of the characteristics of lawyers, and during the trial she took notes copiously and dismissed witnesses with a short "That will do."

When the court decided not to grant a non-suit Mrs. McCloy asked for bench warrants for a number of witnesses. She vigorously contested the insinuations that she is insane.

The day's session was begun by Mr. Ferguson reading letters written by Mrs. McCloy to Dr. Thomas and Dr. J. W. Riggs, chairman of the church board of trustees. They referred to her religious and love affairs. Stephen McKay, a church trustee, was asked about letters he carried to the widow, and upon cross-examination he denied knowing that "a murder had been committed at the Williams house," or that the church was used for improper purposes, as the plaintiff put it. Mrs. Mary Johnston was called and answered "no" to nearly all of Mrs. McCloy's assertive questions.

Abused Her Own Witnesses.

"That will do. You prepare to die," exclaimed the plaintiff. Mrs. McCloy then began a tirade against the witness, declaring she never heard such a pack of lies as Mrs. Johnston told.

Mrs. McCloy called Attorney W. M. McElroy, who represented her at the former trial. He did not answer, and Mrs. McCloy announced there was bribery on foot. In the meantime Mr. McElroy came in and he was asked by the plaintiff why he had her case postponed for months. Judge F. H. Collier ruled against the question and Mrs. McCloy exclaimed: "Is this a court of justice?"

When the widow called Dr. Thomas it was expected that she would refer to their alleged love affairs, but she only questioned him about having sent her $10 and about letters written to her by him. He denied this.

"What!" exclaimed Mrs. McCloy, "you never wrote a letter to me?"

"Not one," answered Dr. Thomas.

"That will do!" said she.

A number of other witnesses, whose testimony was of no importance, were called by Mrs. McCloy, after which Mr. Ferguson asked for a non-suit. The court decided the case was one for the jury, because of Mrs. McCloy's direct testimony.

Mr. Ferguson opened the case for the defense, saying that it would be shown that Mrs. McCloy's mind was in such a state that her testimony could not be given weight.

Preacher Tells His Story.

Dr. Thomas was then called. He referred to his meeting and acquaintance with the widow, and with his interest in her as a member of his congregation.

"Any love-making?" asked Mr. Ferguson.

"No, sir," answered Dr. Thomas.

Dr. Thomas told of his marriage to Miss Johnston of Birmingham, Ala.; of the notes he received from Mrs. McCloy; of her prophecy that he would marry a woman of delicate health. He said the widow declared she was willing to take up the burden of a pastor's wife, which alarmed him. He told of having called upon her in response to a letter to the effect that she was sick, and of having received a letter from her telling him of her love for him. He spoke of trouble experienced with her calling at his home, his study and the church.

He referred to the widow following him to the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, where he broke away from her and ran in among the pastors, telling them that a crazy woman was after him.

"Did you write me this letter?" asked Mrs. McCloy.

"I never did," quietly answered Dr. Thomas.

"You lie," almost shouted the widow.

"We object," Mr. Ferguson exclaimed.

"But he does! My witnesses proved it," responded Mrs. McCloy.

Mr. Ferguson read the testimony of Dr. J. W. Riggs at the last trial, when Mrs. McCloy declared, "He swore to a pack of lies."

The court allowed Mrs. McCloy to read the cross-examination, and no sooner had she read the first answer than she exclaimed: "That's a lie." She was warned against making any side remarks.

Story of a Medium.

Mrs Arthur Owen told of Mrs. McCloy having spoken to her about a medium, who prophecied the death of Mrs. Thomas. The witness denied she took down the address of the medium so that she "could get Arthur Owen," or that she "had the wedding clothes but not the husband." After other witnesses were heard, whose testimony was of no interest, court adjourned at noon.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Grote, a member of the congregation, said Mrs. McCloy told her she was the special agent of God; that she was to accomplish her mission in four years; that she was to be beheaded as was John the Baptist, and that she had visions of going to heaven in a large elevator, where she met Dr. Thomas' father and mother, who blessed the marriage of the pastor and the widow.

Mrs. McCloy remarked that she had to talk "awful fast to tell all of that."

Dr. L. C. Barnes of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church was called and said he believes the plaintiff is of unsound mind.

"Are you of sound mind yourself?" asked the widow.

"I'll leave that for others to judge," answered Dr. Barnes.

William Dixon, janitor of the Union Baptist church, was called to show, as Mr. Ferguson put it, "the crazy actions of the women."

Among the incidents the janitor testified was one when Mrs. McCloy broke into a meeting and cried: "Hurrah for John Thomas! Hurray for Mrs. Williams!"

"Did you not see Henry Bainbridge knock me down at the meeting?" asked the plaintiff.

"No, ma'am," said the janitor.

Officers Tell of Arrests.

"Did you see Bainbridge give a policeman $10 to arrest me?"

"No, ma'am."

Policemen Richard Beers and Alexander Hoke testified to the arrests of Mrs. McCloy on the South Side, once at the church and another time for preaching in the street. The former denied receiving $10 to arrest Mrs. McCloy. Witnesses were then called to show the good reputation of Mrs. Williams, against whose character Mrs. McCloy made an attack during the trial.

Mrs. McCloy was told she could go on the stand and rebut the testimony of any of the witnesses for the defense. She did so, and assailed Dr. Riggs, whom she said was trying to pry into her business, "but got very little." She accused Mrs. Williams and Dr. Thomas with intimacy, the police with assaulting her and the church members with ill-treating her.

George McCloy, a son of the plaintiff, was called to contradict some of Dr. Thomas' testimony. Attorney J. M. Murphy, acting for Dr. Thomas also, looked rather surprised when Mrs. McCloy called him to the stand.

"You told me—you remember writing me a letter to come to your office?" asked Mrs. McCloy.

"I did not," answered Mr. Murphy.

"Well, that's all," declared the widow.

It was announced that all of the testimony was in, whereupon Mr. Ferguson asked that the court instruct the jury to bring in a verdict for the defense, remarking the case was a clear one. Mr. Ferguson said he did not desire to address the jury, but Mrs. McCloy insisted that she desired to speak. The case was then adjourned until Monday morning.

CONTROLLER LARKIN FILES HIS ANSWER

Denies the Mercantile Trust Co. Has Any Just Claims Due From the City.

City Controller John E. Larkin yesterday filed his answer to the rule granted on him to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not issue commanding him to draw a warrant for the payment of one of the installments claimed to be due on the construction of the new Highland reservoir by the Keeling & Ridge Company. The rule was filed by the Mercantile Trust Company.

Mr. Larkin says the writ of mandamus is not sought to procure the enforcement of a public duty, but to enforce rights which the petitioner claims to have under an alleged contract with the city of Pittsburgh; therefore that the proceedings should not have been in the name of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

He admits that the contract was originally awarded to Jonathan Clark & Sons Company, that that concern abandoned the work, and that the contract was relet to Keeling & Ridge. He denies that the specifications of the contract have been changed or that the former director of public works, George W. Wilson, had any authority to agree to any change in the contract.

Mr. Larkin further says that by the act of April 6, 1867, it is the duty of the city controller to examine all bills against the city and countersign warrants for the payment of such bills as he may find to be lawfully just and due.

He says that the act of March 7, 1901, provides that if any warrant is presented to the controller containing an item for which no appropriation has been made he shall notify the proper department of that fact. Another section, he says, provides that he has the power to require evidence that the amount claimed is justly due.

Controller Larkin says that the estimate upon which the trust company asks the warrant is not a final estimate, but is merely a monthly estimate. He says he employed Charles A. Finley, a civil engineer, to examine the claim and report whether it was in accordance with the specifications of the contract. That when Mr. Finley reported to the contractor to examine the work the contractor refused to allow him to do so, and that later the attorneys for the trust company asked that another engineer be employed. He then asked Director J. Guy McCandless to permit A. B. Shepherd, superintendent of the water bureau, to examine the work. He says the next step taken was the filing of the petition in this case.

Mr. Larkin says that when he examined the claim he found that it was not justly due because the work was not done in accordance with the contract specifications.

He says he found that the work condemned by E. M. Bigelow when he was director of public works and ordered by him to be removed, which was not done, was included in the claim. He says the estimate includes $630 for paving stone which the city is not obliged to pay for. He says that under previous estimates the city has paid $7,593.20 for puddle stored, $2,605 for crushed stone stored and $1,374 for paving stone stored, all of which has not yet been used in the work.

The controller says that the work was to have been completed by November 1, 1898; that $100 was to be deducted for each day that the work continued beyond that date. The work is still uncompleted, and more is due the city than the present estimate.

Mr. Larkin denies that the trust company has made a proper effort to complete the reservoir, or has been prevented from doing so by the city. The amount claimed by the trust company since councils authorized them to do the work is $27,004.22.

Typewriter Company to Extend Works.

The fact that shrewd observers consider the condition of the typewriter business a good index of the general commercial situation lends an added interest to the recent announcement of the Remington Typewriter Company that they propose to extend the capacity of their works at Ilion, N. Y., to nearly double their present production. New buildings are to be erected, and increased facilities of every description are to be put into service with all possible speed to provide for an increase in the company's business which, although steady for a number of years in succession, has lately assumed proportions altogether unprecedented in their previous history. That this great concern, the largest of its kind in the world, with its highly organized system touching the commercial world at all points of the country, should plan extensions on such a magnificent scale affords a most satisfactory indication of the sound condition of the nation's material interests.

If You Want a Piano Now's the Time to Buy It

Yes, and the SOONER you make up your mind to the importance of this opportunity the sooner you'll have reason to congratulate yourself.

The sale at Mellor's is attracting more attention with each succeeding day.

The sacrifice prices are the talk of the town.

And these greatly reduced prices are owing to an unavoidable circumstance. The erection of the Farmers' Deposit Bank skyscraper, next to the Mellor property, has caused the work on the foundations of the skyscraper to encroach on the Mellor basement. All goods in the basement are being sold—MUST be sold.

Little need to say the public is alive to the fact that this is a truly golden opportunity.

Among the especially noteworthy bargains are the following:

One Used Steinway, Small Grand; Style "A," Ebony
One Used Steinway, Small Grand, Style "A," Mahogany
One Mason & Hamlin, Small Grand, Mahogany
Ten Upright Pianos, rented for a short time
Second-Hand Square Pianos from $25 up
Second-Hand Uprights from $75 up
Shop-Worn Pianos from $135 up
Specimen Pianos from $165 up
Brand New Pianos from $175 up

Used Pianolas, $150, $175 and $200. These have been rented and the cases are marred somewhat, but otherwise they are in good condition—and are remarkable bargains.

On Saturday night the constables raided a "crap" game in a shanty and captured four young men. There was considerable excitement at the time and boys scattered in all directions. The constables, to frighten them, fired pistols. Peter Kilien, 18 years of age, son of Michael Kilien, superintendent of the Edgar Thomson furnaces, was shot in the shoulder, and later liberated by the constables. Kilien claims that he was not shooting "craps," but was simply standing near the shanty and did not run.

Make It Be The Most Memorable Day of Your Life!

Follow The Decoration Day Crowds TO WEST PARK ADDITION NO. 2.

The great sale of lots in WEST PARK ADDITION NO. 2, will be the real estate triumph of the year. The two previous WEST PARK PLANS sold off in a single season.

The new plan will go in the same way.

If you want to get in on the ground floor and do wonders with a ten dollar bill, catch a WEST PARK CAR at the foot of Fifth Avenue or on the Market Street corner.

Schedule time to WEST PARK is 24 minutes. WEST PARK CARS run through the property, and are within one to five minutes' walk of any lot in the plan.

The quality of property selling in WEST PARK at $2 to $15 a foot is bringing $200 to $355 a foot not a stone's throw away, in McKees Rocks. This will give you some idea of the money you will make by getting out to this sale today or tomorrow. Today if you can, as you know the rock bottom prices will be taken advantage of first.

All you need to do to realize what an opportunity this is, is to visit the property and witness the matchless building activity. Three hundred houses and business blocks have been built on WEST PARK property at a cost of nearly $1,000,000 in less than eight months.

Remember that WEST PARK is the only new property developed within the last year that has complete sewerage, paved streets, city water, both gases, electric lights, fast traction service, and modern city improvements.

It is the only improved property that is having giant new million dollar industries established, and possessing colossal manufacturing enterprises already established and exerting direct influence on real estate values.

Notwithstanding all this the owners are making a quick turn of this property at prices marvelously lower than those asked for the inferior suburban or unimproved real estate.

FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1902.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

The Veterans' Day.

We have before us a copy of the Pittsburgh Evening Chronicle of April 15, 1865, containing the list of the Pennsylvania soldiers who died in the confederate prison at Andersonville from February 26, 1864, to March 24, 1865—a period of thirteen months. The list covers more than a page, and there is annexed a statement showing a total of 12,878 deaths in that prison during the period above named. To one who is old enough to recall that time, this old paper, colored with age, brings vividly to mind the sufferings and privations of the men who gave the best four years of their lives, and many of them even life itself to save their country from disunion, slavery and national dishonor. The men who fought in the War of the Rebellion were not mere soldiers. They were armed citizens, inspired by noble sentiment, battling for an idea. They realized the possibilities of a united country, and foreseeing dimly the supreme position it was to assume among the nations of the earth, they fought even unto death for its unity and its welfare. They struggled not for conquest nor for their own or even for their country's glory. They fought for her very life; and our now unchallenged place among nations is the logical result of their sacrifices and their valor.

Custom and law have set apart this day for the purpose of keeping fresh the memory of these brave men, and of celebrating their unselfish devotion. The little that the present generation can do to honor the memory of the dead or to reward the shattered remnant of the living is as nothing compared with the magnitude of their work, of which we are the beneficiaries. Their ranks are thinning day by day, and each year finds a smaller detachment of comrades to lay flowers on a fast increasing number of graves. The youngest veteran is now old. Soon, very soon, the last one will be laid to rest; but their deeds will be the theme of song and story as long as love of country endures, and gratitude animates the human breast.

Krakatoa's Warning.

The fear of panic-stricken survivors on the island of Martinique that Mont Pelee has not yet done its worst, but that the entire island is doomed to destruction is not unnatural when the continued activity of the volcano is considered. They are terrified by what they have already seen and heard, and by the threatenings that come from the mountain. Were they familiar with the history of the great eruption of Krakatoa, they would be likely to regard the destruction of their island as not only probable, but certain.

There are many points of similarity between the eruption of Mont Pelee and the terrible activity of Krakatoa in 1883. Both volcanoes were supposed to be extinct. That on Martinique had been silent for more than half a century, but there had been no outbreak of Krakatoa for 200 years. Signs of revival were similar in both cases. Slowly the mighty forces imprisoned within the bowels of the earth awakened from their slumbers. Earthquake tremors were felt and deep rumblings were heard. In neither instance did the eruption threaten to be of a very serious type. After Mont Pelee had thrown out a river of mud which destroyed a large sugar plantation and a number of lives, government officials made an examination and decided that nothing more was to be feared. Lulled into false security the inhabitants of St. Pierre fell victims to a far more violent eruption.

The people of Batavia were not terrified by the early activity of Krakatoa. They made picnic excursions to the place. The energy of Krakatoa gathered force all through July. By the middle of August there was widespread panic in the adjacent islands of Java and Sumatra. On the night of August 26 the dust clouds were thicker than ever, the lightning more vivid, the thunder more terrible. Houses in Batavia, 100 miles away, were shaken by subterranean violence. At 10 o'clock next morning the supreme effort of Krakatoa occurred. A frightful explosion scattered a large part of the island to the winds, and set in motion a tidal wave which destroyed thousands of lives and whose force was felt completely around the world. The sound was heard across the Indian ocean on the island of Rodrigues, nearly 3,000 miles away. Vast quantities of dust shot into the upper currents of wind were carried all around the globe, and became the cause of the remarkable red sunsets seen in America, as well as in Europe, in the summer of 1883.

Points of similarity between Krakatoa and Martinique are striking. The islands are of the same volcanic formation. Both lie close to the equator, though on opposite sides of the globe. Mont Pelee has acted much like Krakatoa as far as it has gone, and there would appear to be sufficient ground for dreading a continuation of Krakatoa's program, even to the destructive tidal wave which was the result of the final explosion. We can predict the future only from the past. What has been is the indication of what will be. With Pelee's continued warnings, and the lesson of Krakatoa in mind, the French government should remove all the inhabitants from the island of Martinique, and the British government should take measures for the safety of the inhabitants of St. Vincent, who are threatened by the activity of La Soufriere.

The Issue in the State.

Discussion of the state political situation by the papers of the state recognizes the fact that Attorney General Elkin is in the field for governor as the representative of the Stone influence in the commonwealth. This carries with it recognition that his nomination and election would perpetuate in public affairs an influence that has been condemned from one end of the state to the other, and brought reproach upon the Republican party. Condemnation of Stone is universal. No voice is raised in defense or justification of his course as governor—not even his own. He, by his silence, admits the complete justice of all the charges and all the condemnation. With all this, Stone is at the head of the state government and is using the great power it gives him to further Elkin's efforts to win the nomination for governor, because Elkin is his one hope. He sinks or swims, lives or dies, survives or perishes with him. If Elkin goes down Stone goes, too, and to stay. Elkin may come to the surface again, but not Stone. If Elkin, with Stone's help, wins, Stone is given a renewed lease of political power, and will remain as a dominating factor in the affairs of Pennsylvania. It is in answer to the public protest against Stone and Stoneism in the public life of the state that Watres and Pennypacker are before the people as candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. Elkin represents the opposition to this public demand. He is for Stone because Stone's power and influence gave life to his candidacy, and the measure of standing it possesses. He is Stone's candidate and will pay the debt he owes him if it is placed in his power to do so. Watres and Pennypacker represent the plain, decent people, whose one wish is to wipe out the reign of graft in politics and start the government of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania on a new and pure course.

A World Leader.

Pittsburgh's supremacy as an originator of freight is exhibited strikingly in the report of the National Association of Car Service Managers for the first three months of this year. The total number of cars reported from this district was over 416,500, exceeding the next largest, all New England, by more than 28,500. The Chicago district comes third and Philadelphia fourth, the latter falling more than 60,000 cars below Pittsburgh during the three months. For the purposes of the association the Mahoning and Shenango valleys constitute a separate district, reporting a total of 152,000 cars, though much of that business really belongs to the Pittsburgh region.

When it is remembered that a majority of the cars entering the Pittsburgh district carry cargo both ways it is not difficult to arrive at an estimate of the immense tonnage this car movement represents. There is another factor also that adds to Pittsburgh, namely, a larger proportion of the modern 50-ton steel cars than are handled in other sections of the country. These cars are quite largely devoted to carrying coal, coke and ore, so the average of Pittsburgh cars can be safely figured at one or two tons more than those credited to Philadelphia or New England.

What the movement might have been had the railroads been able to handle all the business offered can only be conjectured. Certainly it would have been much larger during January, February and March. At any rate these statistics, compiled by the railroads themselves, furnish the criterion by which they should judge what they owe to this marvelous region.

Anglo-African Peace.

Other events of world-wide interest have temporarily withdrawn attention from the struggle in South Africa, but yesterday's London news to the effect that peace terms are being concluded by which the war will be brought to a conclusion will serve to renew interest in the trouble between Great Britain and her Transvaal troubles. England ardently desires to end the long and expensive struggle in South Africa, and has undoubtedly made peace proposals of the most important kind to the Boer leaders. Of this fact there is no doubt, but as to the nature of those proposals little is known. The government leaders speak of the result of the peace offers hopefully. A. J. Balfour hopes to be able to make a definite announcement on Monday to the commons that peace has been agreed on.

On the other hand the news from Cape Colony indicates that the Boers were never so active in that part of the country as now, and they are declared to be in constant occupation of at least 22 localities. A correspondent yesterday summed up the situation as he saw it in the declaration that so far as Cape Colony is concerned "the Boer invasion is more actively aggressive than ever and rebellion is more rampant." To these disheartening facts must be added the reported disinclination of ex-President Steyn to accept the present terms of peace for the Transvaalers, naming as the ground of his contention six points of difference. On top of all this it is said that ex-President Kruger is opposed to certain concessions asked by the British government, and will throw the weight of his influence against the pending negotiations.

Nevertheless the confidence expressed by English government leaders inspires the hope that peace is in sight, and the reports from Louisiana and Montana that the buying of horses for the British army is at an end give color to official optimism. It is not improbable that the activity noted among the Boer bands in Cape Colony may be a last desperate effort designed to affect favorably the demands of their peace negotiators.

The Controller's Powers.

In answering the petition of the Mercantile Trust Company, Controller Larkin tells the court that he sought to ascertain whether the claim for work done on the new Highland reservoir is just—whether the work was done according to specifications, as per contract—but that he was not permitted to do so. These, we believe, are admitted facts. Apparently, therefore, the question at issue is whether the controller has the right and authority under the law to satisfy himself that the city has been given what it contracted for before he pays out money. There is no question but that it is the duty of the recorder and the head of the proper department of city government to see that the city gets what it bargains for. If the controller has not the authority to assure himself that the recorder and the proper department have done their full duty then the city is without an important safeguard that it well might have, and that many people think it has. If it is without this safeguard then the work to be done at the next city election is more than ever important.

Some Promised Features for Memorial Day

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, May 29.

In New York, as elsewhere in the United States, the old soldiers are looking over their Grand Army clothes and furbishing up the buttons, in preparation for the celebration of tomorrow. The day is to be an important one here. It is that everywhere in this country, but there are to be more than the usual features in connection with the observance of Memorial day in New York this time. The most conspicuous event of the day will be the dedication of the soldiers' and sailors' monument in Riverside drive. The monument has been two years under construction, after being talked about before that for six years. All kinds of objections were raised to it, principally by property owners in the neighborhood, who feared that the memorial would obstruct their view of the Palisades, or the river, or something. All these objections were swept away in time, however, and the monument is standing complete. It is thought that Gen. Miles will unveil it, as it is doubtful whether Gov. Odell and his staff will be able to attend. The large parade, including Grand Army posts, volunteer firemen and veteran organizations, including veterans of the Spanish war, will be escorted by the First brigade of the national guard, and will march from Fifty-fifth street, in Fifth avenue, to Ninety-first street. At Eighty-sixth street and West End avenue the procession will be reviewed by Gen. Miles and staff, Maj.-Gen. Roe, Mayor Low, the board of aldermen (with Alderman Bridges wearing his "funeral coat") and other public officials. Two thousand children of the public schools are to take part in the exercises. Among the features that will attract general attention will be the identical flag which floated from the revenue cutter McClelland at New Orleans on January 29, 1861, concerning which Maj.-Gen. John A. Dix, then secretary of the treasury, sent his world-famous dispatch: "If anyone attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot."

Prospects for a Pleasant Day.

It seems as if the weather has changed again. It was much warmer tonight than it has been for three days, and the official forecaster, who has been known to tell the truth once in a while, predicts a warm day tomorrow. The roof gardens took heart of grace this evening and had the best attendance since Monday.

Democratic Fight Against Tammany.

There are indications that the anti-Croker forces will fight hard for supremacy next fall. All over the city the New York Democracy, of which John C. Sheehan is the acknowledged head, is establishing headquarters. The buildings are being painted white, with the name of the respective district or of the club, in large, black letters. One conspicuous place is in Sixth avenue, which calls itself the "Cleveland club." Discussion is rife tonight as to whether Grover Cleveland may be coming into the arena again, and there are even conjectures as to the possibility of his being a presidential condidate again. At all events, it is evident that the fight against Tammany this fall will carry no uncertain note.

Stoppage of Relief Work.

That the work of relief for the Martinique sufferers has been completed, so far as New York is concerned, is evident in more ways than one. Since the warship Dixie was here the United States government has been paying $50 a day for the use of a pier in the East river on which to receive stores for Martinique. The pier was given up today and Uncle Sam will save his $50 a day.

Defendant Free; Jury Locked Up.

Police Captain Herlihy, formerly in charge of what has come to be known as the "Red Light" district, on the East Side, was not convicted today of neglect of duty there. The jury, after being out all night, reported this morning that it could not agree. Capt. Herlihy will be tried again, the proceedings beginning on June 9. One of the peculiarities of the trial just ended was that the jury were locked up in the court room all night, to sleep on the hard benches or floor, as they could, while the defendant was set free to rest comfortably in bed at home. The question naturally suggested is, "Why is it not better to be under indictment for an offense which, on conviction, carries a heavy punishment, than a member of a jury who is merely doing his duty as a citizen?" Can it be that "pull" had anything to do with the topsy-turvy conditions in this case last night?

Cody Gets Shafter's Buckboard.

Gen. Shafter's buckboard, with the mule and trappings appertaining thereto, which went through the Cuban war with the general, are in the city. They arrived from Santiago on the steamer Seguranca on Tuesday and were passed by the government officials yesterday. "Buffalo Bill" has obtained possession of the mule and buckboard and intends to present them in his exhibition of the battle of San Juan hill. He would use Gen. Shafter, too, if he could get him, so Maj. Burke says.

Coal Men's Consciences Differ.

The retail price of anthracite coal in New York city is $7.50 a ton. Over in New Jersey, within a quarter of an hour's ride of Greater New York, the price of coal is the same as it has been all winter —$5.50 a ton. Why there should be a difference in price of $2 a ton for the same article in this city and another community a few miles away is something that has not been satisfactorily explained. The fact remains. In the tenement districts of this city, where many families buy their coal by the pailful holding less than half a bushel, the cost, in these quantities, runs to nearly $12 a ton. This is rather hard on the buyers of pailfuls of coal, but what are you to do about it? Coal dealers in Jersey are as hard-headed as their fellow-citizens to other lines of business, and they know exactly what New York coal merchants are getting for their anthracite. One of these Jerseyites said to me this morning: "We have not raised the price of coal a cent a ton throughout all this flurry over the Pennsylvania miner's strike, because we did not find it necessary. I cannot tell what we may do. We might take a notion some day to parallel the price of the New Yorkers; but we have not found it in our consciences to do it yet." New York coal dealers do not condescend to explain why they have forced up prices, and it does not trouble their consciences, evidently. But then, as Joshua Whitcomb says, "New York ain't got no heart."

Rising Novelist Once a Bluff Reporter.

One of the young authors talked about in New York just now is David Graham Phillips, for whom the Harpers have just published a novel, and whose work is seen frequently in the magazines. Phillips is a New Yorker, and only a few years ago was a reporter on a New York paper. He is a tall, strapping, refined-looking young man, with an intellectual face and the biceps of a professional "strong man." When he was on the staff of one of the Park row newspapers he was pointed out to me as "our bluff reporter." Explanation of the term was that "Phillips is always sent to interview distinguished men and women who are disposed to put on frills. He can freeze the haughtiest specimen with a glance, and can get a talk out of him when any other interviewer in the city would fall ignominously." That was David Graham Phillips, the rising novelist, when, like Richard Harding Davis and E. W. Townsend, he was "only a reporter."

High Aspirations of Plumbers' Boys.

Plumbers' helpers are on strike here. Seeing the enormous wealth that rolls in a steady stream into the pockets of plumbers, these helpers, boys about 18 years of age, have imbibed ideas above their wages. They want to dine at the Waldorf, have fast horses on the Speedway and enjoy the luxuries of life in general, which are popularly supposed to be the lot of plumbers. So they have struck for 50 cents a day more pay. All they have got so far is an occasional "dusting" with a policeman's club for interfering with the boys engaged in their stead.

Rochambeau Party Goes to Boston.

The Rochambeau delegation left New York tonight. They have gone to Boston, from which port they will sail for home on the Gaulois on Sunday or Monday. The party had a lively day of it. They spent several hours at the country home of Whitelaw Reid, former ambassador to France, at Ophir farm, returning to New York this evening, and attending a dinner at Delmonico's given in their honor by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. Many visitors were at the private reception room in the Waldorf-Astoria before the party left, to present their compliments and wish them a pleasant trip; and amid the buzz of conversation and leave-taking the affair assumed the appearance of a formal afternoon reception. All the members of the party were in good health and spirits and showed no signs of weariness after their period of sight-seeing and social galeties.

Love Crazes an Indian.

Evans Bradby, a full-blooded Indian, died early this morning in the insane pavilion of Bellevue hospital, a maniac. Bradby came from the reservation at White House, Va., about a year ago, and while an assistant steward on the steamboat Priscilla of the Fall River line, fell in love with the daughter of the engineer, who at last had to tell him she could not marry him. It is said that long afterward he showed signs of mental derangement. He was taken to Bellevue hospital, where he died of brain trouble.

Gleason's City Hall to Be Sold.

The old city hall property in Long Island City, which used to be called "Battlesex Gleason's" City hall, will be sold at auction on June 14 on the steps of the Queens county court house. The building was occupied for years by the Long Island City government, and it was while occupying an office in it that the late Mayor Gleason won considerable publicity. It always has been supposed that the old city hall was owned by him. He was credited with owning it, but a proceeding begun years ago by the widow of Louis Roediger charged that the sale to Gleason was not legal, as he had paid only $100 each to the several heirs of Roediger. When the Sanford administration came into power it was found by those fighting Gleason that an infant owning a one-eighth interest in the property had not been bought out by Gleason. Later the property was transferred to James Kennedy, a well-known friend of Gleason's, and he has posed as its owner for years.

The Coaching Season.

Road coaching was an enjoyable sport today. The pioneer left the Holland house this morning for Ardsley under brilliant skies and in a tingling breeze, which gave the men of the party an opportunity to wear coaching men's sporty great coats, sartorial relics of a past generation which the four-in-hand only has kept in use. An informal dance was given this evening at the Ardsley club. A special table d'hote was arranged, for which a large number of members and guests secured tables. All the rooms at the Ardsley club have been secured over Memorial day. The same may be said of the Tuxedo club, where a number of house parties will be entertained over the holiday and the week-end.

Not Staff of Life, but Club of Death.

Emile La Croix, speaking before the Vegetarian society in this city, pays his respects to the bread most of us eat three times a day in a terrifying strain. Said he: "You have heard bread spoken of as the 'staff of life,' but I think it should be called the club of death. It is full of calcareous matter, which goes into the arteries and clings to the walls. The reason why you are stiff in the morning when you wake is that your pulse has been beating slowly during the night and has not wasted away any of this calcareous matter. It is necessary for fowls, because they lay eggs with hard shells, but not for man. But for this substance of lime we should grow to be 16 or 20 feet high, as they did before the flood, only the bones are made so brittle that they won't grow. Your forearms should be four feet long and your chest measurement seven feet." In spite of all this the bakeries in New York seemed to be doing their usual business today.

Needles Note Another Earth Tremor.

William A. Eddy of Bayonne, the kite man, reports that some time yesterday, between 7:08 a. m. and 7:08 p. m., a slight vibration from the south-southwest affected the needles of three of his cellar seismographs. He says that the recording needles moved only about one-hundredth of an inch and that the tremor was too slight to be detected otherwise than by very delicate instruments. All the instruments were affected alike. Mr. Eddy says that while the explosion from Mont Pelee at 8:45 a. m. yesterday may have produced the vibration, he believes it more likely to have been caused by a slight tremor or breathing of the earth emanating from a deep cleft in the ocean floor off Sandy Hook.

PERSONALS

E. C. Hendrick, who had charge of the interests of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company in Le Havre, France, for the past two years, returned to Pittsburgh last night and is registered at the Hotel Anderson. In speaking of electrical work in foreign countries he said: "The French Westinghouse Company has had its plant in operation for the past five years and the territory controlled from Le Havre includes Belgium, Italy and Spain. So great are the orders that it has become necessary to double the present size of the plant. In Le Havre we make the same line of work as at East Pittsburgh. Electrical work in Europe is as yet in its infancy. American goods are fast replacing those of home makes and it is astonishing the number of American stores that are being established in almost every city in Europe."

"The sale of harness for the present year, from the outlook, will exceed that of last year by at least 50 per cent," said C. H. Field, a hardware-saddlery merchant at the Seventh Avenue hotel last night. "This is true in the face of the great number of automobiles and street cars now in use in the United States. The scarcity of good horses is an unusual fact. In Kentucky the thoroughbreds are sold out, and there is scarcely a good, sound horse in the state for sale."

P. R. Lombard, owner of several gold and copper mines in Coronado, Cal., en route to his home last night from a business trip to New York, said: "The work on Senator William A. Clark's new railroad is progressing rapidly. It will be in operation by the latter part of next summer, and will tend to open up a greater portion of the country from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles."

Night Clerk George B. De Shields of the Hotel Duquesne has resigned his position to accept the management of a prominent hostelry in Washington, D. C.

Ex-State Treasurer James E. Barnett of Washington, Pa., was a Monongahela house guest last night.

GRAND SHOWING IS MADE IN THIS DISTRICT

Pittsburgh's Magnificent Statistics as Shown by Last Report of Car Service Managers.

In the report of the National Association of Car Service Managers for the first quarter of 1902 there is a striking exhibit of the Pittsburgh freight interest. Thus the number of cars reported for January was 147,295; February, 126,096; March, 142,713; total, 416,524. The total for the Philadelphia district during the quarter was 358,912; for Chicago, 347,856; for all New England, 377,956.

In other words, the total reported from Pittsburgh exceeds all New England, which is the next highest, by more than 38,500 cars. Pittsburgh, for comparison, should really have added to it the total for the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, 154,252 cars, which is almost equal to the number reported from New York and New Jersey.

During the first quarter of last year 414,343 cars were reported from Pittsburgh and 135,267 from the Mahoning and Shenango valleys. Chicago's total for the same period was 337,791; Philadelphia's, 355,790, and New England, 374,439. The figures for many states and covering more than one state sink to insignificance alongside the magnificent statistics of Pittsburgh.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Prof. R. M. McCargo.

Prof. R. M. McCargo, one of the best-known music teachers in the two cities, and for the past 20 years supervisor of music in the Pittsburgh public schools, died yesterday morning at 7 o'clock of bronchial pneumonia at his home, No. 1127 Ridge avenue, Allegheny. He was 74 years old. Prof. McCargo came to Pittsburgh from Franklin, Pa., to assist Prof. E. E. Rinehart to teach music in the public schools. He was the successor of Prof. Prosser. Prof. McCargo was of a kindly disposition and was a familiar figure in the schools of this city. Besides being a thorough musician he was also a man of scholarly attainments in other fields. Prof. McCargo was the elder brother of the late David McCargo, former general superintendent of the Allegheny Valley railroad. He is survived by his widow and four children: Mrs. H. D. Mason, Mrs. H. M. Williamson and Misses Clara E. and Gertrude McCargo. He was a member of the East End Unitarian church. A meeting of the central board of education will be held this morning to take appropriate action on the death of Prof. McCargo and make provisions for members of that body to attend the funeral.

John Jermyn.

SCRANTON, PA., May 29.—John Jermyn, one of the leading anthracite operators of Pennsylvania, died today, aged 72. He was a native of England and came to America when a youth. He became a coal digger in 1847 and later secured coal lands on royalties and became an operator on his own account. He developed mines at Jermyn, which was named after him, at Dickson City, in Scranton and Old Forge. His estate is valued at several million dollars.

Hugh Hamill.

Hugh Hamill, 25 years old, a son of the late Dr. S. J. Hamill, died yesterday of typhoid fever at the home of his mother, Mrs. Emma F. Hamill, in Wilkinsburg. Besides his mother, two sisters, the Misses Mary and Elsie, and two brothers, John Hamill of Wilkinsburg and Harry Hamill of Johnstown, survive.

John Aber.

John Aber, 80 years old, a well-known farmer of Patton township, died yesterday afternoon. Mr. Aber was born in Patton and always resided in this vicinity. He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

Elizabeth E. Caffery, 71 years old, died last evening at 6 o'clock at the Home for Aged Women, in Wilkinsburg.

William McCluskey Kirkpatrick, 69 years old, a member of Knapp's battery during the civil war, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George A. Rowe, in Viola avenue, Duquesne.

Mrs. Mary L. Gribben, 83 years old, is dead at the home of her son, John L. Gribben, local newspaper man, No. 1515 North Canal street, Sharpsburg. She was a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

COUNCILS TO BE ASKED FOR GARBAGE PLANT

Director A. H. Leslie Will Have Ordinances Presented for a Municipal Plant.

The ash and garbage man will soon have to hunt other means of employment for his horse and vehicle if the plans of Director A. H. Leslie are carried into effect by city councils. It is the intention of the director to have the garbage and ashes removed and disposed of by the city. Ordinances will be introduced at the next meeting of councils asking for an appropriation to erect a garbage plant and for the purchase of wagons to remove refuse. The plant is to be operated by the city exclusively. Director Leslie has been working on the plan for some time. He has been in consultation with the officials of other cities and has had them submit figures and reports to him showing the advantage and saving to a municipality by operating their own garbage plant.

Complaints are daily lodged against the present contract method of removing the garbage. Director Leslie says that the sanitary condition of the city would also be improved under this method. He has plans and figures showing that the ashes and garbage could be removed and destroyed at a very reasonable cost.

The garbage is handled by the city at this time, and it is done by the Pittsburgh Garbage Company. The company has a contract with the city for the removal of garbage and its disposition. The plant is not sufficient to dispose of the large quantities of garbage and refuse, and it is Director Leslie's opinion the city could erect and operate a plant at a more satisfactory and less expensive manner.

The heat from the burning garbage would supply steam power and could be utilized for running other city plants. This would lessen the running expenses.

The ordinances are now being drafted and they will be presented at the next meeting of councils. Mr. Leslie said that he felt assured the city could handle a garbage plant, and remove this refuse and also the ashes in a more satisfactory manner to the citizens than under the present method.

HALCOMB IS TO RETIRE.

W. P. Snyder Placed at Head of the Crucible Steel Company by Banking Interests.

Although Charles H. Halcomb has not yet formally announced his retirement from the presidency of the Crucible Steel Company, W. P. Snyder is now practically the head of the concern. It is not yet absolutely certain that Mr. Snyder will be elected to succeed Mr. Halcomb as president, his acceptance of that position not having yet been secured, but in any event he will be the executive head of the company. Mr. Halcomb declined to be interviewed yesterday. Others holding positions with the Crucible company have all along made denials of the report that Mr. Halcomb was to retire, and as late as yesterday reiterated their denials, but despite these denials, it is a fact that Mr. Snyder is to hereafter be the executive head of the company.

Mr. Snyder is rated as the best furnace man in the United States. The change that puts him at the head of the Crucible company is made in deference to the wishes of the bankers who subscribed for the recent issue of $5,000,000 bonds of the Clairton Steel Company, which is owned by the Crucible Steel Company. The pressure they exerted on Mr. Snyder was one he could not resist. Mr. Halcomb's abilities as a crucible steel man are recognized, and it is still a question whether or not he will remain on the board after he leaves the presidency.

The formal announcement of the changes will probably be made within a day or two. When the plans of the Crucible Steel Company are carried out, funds for which have already been provided, the company will be one of the strongest and most independent as to raw material supplies, etc., in the country.

OHIO PHYSICIAN MISSING.

Dr. W. L. King of Granville Leaves Home Mysteriously and His Friends Are Alarmed.

NEWARK, O., May 29.—(Special.)—Considerable excitement prevails in the neighboring village of Granville over the mysterious disappearance of Dr. W. L. King, one of the leading physicians of the village. The doctor left his home on last Sunday, without informing his family of his departure, and since that time nothing has been heard of him.

His friends have made diligent inquiry in Newark and have telephoned and telegraphed to all the surrounding towns, but they have been unable to obtain a single clue that will throw any light on the matter, and it is feared that he may have been a victim of foul play. Mr. Lewis Pine of Newark, who is a friend of the family, secured a picture of the missing physician, and this morning he left for Columbus in the hope of obtaining some clue of him there.

MAY GET A SHAKING UP

Earthquakes Are Likely to Be Felt in Southern and Western States.

From the Washington Post.

A question arising out of the Martinique disaster, and one that seems to have escaped completely the attention of scientists, is whether the seismic and volcanic disturbances in the islands of Martinique, St. Vincent, St. Lucia, Guadeloupe and others will not result in a series of underground disturbances that will be felt in the United States, especially in the southern and western parts.

Broadly speaking, earthquakes and volcanoes are confined within certain definite areas, and beyond the boundaries of these earthquakes zones seismic and volcano phenomena are comparatively unknown. In fact, there are large areas of the earth's surface in which such phenomena are completely unknown.

This earthquake zone takes the form of a ribbon, and beginning in the antarctic continent, in the neighborhood of the two active volcanoes, Mount Erebus and Mount Terror, 2,000 miles or more to the south of New Zealand, runs in a northeasterly direction to Cape Horn and up the west coast of South America. Reaching the isthmus of Panama, this ribbon, or zone, divides, one fork turning east and running through Venezuela, Guiana, Trinidad, Martinique, St. Vincent, Barbados, Guadelope, St. Kitts, Porto Rico, Haiti, Cuba, thence through Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas, and from there west through Central America and Mexico. Coalescing, the zone then extends north along the west coast of North America into Alaska and the Aleutian Islands. Thence from the Aleutian Islands south through Kamchatka, Japan, Formosa, the Philippines, the Malay peninsula and Sumatra to Java.

In the last-named island the great earthquake and volcano ribbon again divides, one branch running south through Borneo, Celebes, New Guinea, Australia and New Zealand, and thence on south to the place of beginning in the antarctic continent, making a complete circle over a very large section of the earth's surface. The other branch runs west through India, Persia, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Spain and Portugal, through Central France and Rhenish Prussia, disappearing under the North Atlantic, to again reappear in Iceland in the active volcano, Mount Mecla, and the geysers of that country. The last-named branch is very much broken and rather indistinct, and the connection far less complete than the parent ribbon running from the antarctic up through South America, Mexico, the Antilles and West Indies, and along the Pacific coast of North America.

A part of the United States lies within the earthquake and volcano zone, and by reason of the same it is not only possible but quite likely that the disaster at Martinique may produce earthquakes within the United States. History is full of proof that seismic and volcanic disturbances in the Antilles have in every case been attended by corresponding phenomena in the United States.

In December, 1811, the United States experienced the most terrific and far-reaching seismic disturbance in its history in what is known as the New Madrid (Mo.) earthquake, which was felt in almost every state in the union and which changed completely the topography of a region of 130 square miles, embracing the whole of Southern Illinois, Western Kentucky, West Tennessee, Northeast Arkansas and Southeast Missouri.

A high ridge along the St. Francis river, which followed some 20 miles west of New Madrid, disappeared, and into the depression thus formed the St. Francis plunged, forming a lake seven miles in length by sixteen in breadth at its widest point. This lake is still in existence, and the tops of the trees that covered the high ridge are still to be seen at the bottom of this lake by parties crossing it in boats. In West Tennessee another high ridge also disappeared, forming what is now Reelfoot bayou. Up until a few years ago it was possible to see the tops of trees, that formerly stood on high and dry land, at the bottom of this body of water.

Geysers of boiling mud, steam, sand, and water and asphaltum arose in every hand, and the hillocks of sand and soil thrown out by these geysers are still visible throughout the New Madrid region. Terrible as this earthquake was, only two lives were lost by the calamity. This is accounted for by the fact that the surrounding country was wild and wholly unsettled, save for a few prowling Indians and by reason of the fact that the town of New Madrid itself escaped being engulfed in the terrible fissures that opened and yawned on every hand.

This is the earthquake that the great Indian warrior, Tecumseh, is said to have predicted. Early in the preceding November he stopped for several days at the capital of the Creek nation (located where Montgomery, Ala., now stands), on his return from a tour of the southern tribes whom he had induced to join his conspiracy. The Creeks were a wealthy nation and content to live in peace with the whites, and when Tec

Society

QUIET elegance marked the wedding yesterday of Miss Harriet Miller Lauder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder, and James C. Greenway of New York. It was a daytime wedding, the ceremony being performed at 1:30 o'clock on the large inclosed porches of the Lauder mansion in the East End, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Robert Christie, D. D., of Allegheny. The guests were limited to relatives of both the bride and the bridegroom and a very few intimate friends. The bride, a slender, fair-haired girl, who was introduced to society two seasons ago, was given away by her father. Her younger sister, Miss Elizabeth Storm Lauder, was her only attendant. John C. Greenaway, who spent a couple of years in Pittsburgh a few seasons ago, was his brother's best man.

The appointments of the wedding were exceedingly pretty and dainty. White and green were the predominating colors. The wide porches which almost surround the house were inclosed with high banks of palms and ferns, while myriads of white blossoms, lilies, peonies and wild dog-wood produced artistic effects. The decorations within the house, though simply and unconventionally arranged, served to heighten the beauty of the appointments. The large reception hall and the drawing rooms opening from it were in green and white, while in the dining room and breakfast room the tables for the wedding breakfast were prettily decorated with center pieces of ferns and flowers.

The bride wore a rich and beautiful gown of white lace over white taffeta silk. It was fashioned on simple graceful lines, terminating in a full court train. Her veil of lace was fastened with a coronet of white heather, and her bouquet was composed of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, who has not yet been introduced to society, was prettily gowned in white chiffon over white silk, and in her hands carried a beautiful bouquet of yellow orchids tied with a long chiffon sash.

Of almost equal interest to the bride of yesterday was the other bride in the Lauder family, Mrs. George Lauder, Jr., whose wedding in Greenwich, Conn., a week ago was a brilliant affair. Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder, Jr., who have been taking a short wedding trip, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning and return east today. Mr. and Mrs. Greenaway left last evening on their bridal tour and will sail for Europe in a few days to spend the summer. Before they return they will visit Scotland and the Lauder home in Dunfermline.

The presents which the bride received form a magnificent collection of silver, glass, bric-a-brac and articles of virtu. After their return from Europe Mr. and Mrs. Greenaway will make their home in New York city. The bride is a second cousin of Andrew Carnegie, Mr. Lauder and Mr. Carnegie being cousins, who came to America from the same town in Scotland.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Greenaway of Hot Springs, Ark., parents of the bridegroom; their daughter, Miss Greenaway; Mrs. Van Wyck of New York, a sister of Mrs. Lauder; Mrs. Thomas D. Messler of Shadyside, another sister; Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie of Dungeness, Ga.; Miss Stillman of New York, a cousin of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Varick of Susquehanna, Pa.; Mr. Frissell, Miss Frissell and L. B. Frissell of New York, and Gilbert Greenaway, a brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was a classmate of Miss Stillman Farrington and three Pittsburgh girls who were her room-mates while at school, Miss Alice Thaw, Miss Marion Chambers and Miss Alice Howe Brown, were guests at the wedding yesterday.

Plea for Support.

A circular letter has been issued by the finance committee of the joint committee of Women's clubs, that is a strong plea for support of the work of maintaining the summer playgrounds this season.

This year the committee will open 12 playgrounds in Pittsburgh, each of which will be provided with several forms of industrial work and games for the older boys and girls, thus combining the playground and features of the vacation school. Part of the expense will be defrayed by an appropriation of $2,500 from the Pittsburgh central board of education. For the remainder the committee must depend upon private contributions.

Three playgrounds will be opened in Allegheny. Plans were made to open six playgrounds on the North Side and the appeal for assistance from Allegheny was answered by select and common councils, whose recommendation for an appropriation of $1,000 was immediately signed by Recorder John R. Murphy, but which has not gone beyond the controller. So the Allegheny playgrounds may have to be again entirely supported by private contributions from people living in Allegheny.

The South Side Recreation park is open and will be kept in order under the care of a custodian and director of games until the city appropriation of $700 and private contributions for its maintenance are exhausted. The total cost of 16 playgrounds and vacation schools for this season is estimated at $7,000. Last year 11 playgrounds in Pittsburgh and three in Allegheny, and one vacation school, were maintained at a cost of over $5,000, of which $2,000 was paid by the Pittsburgh central board of education, and $600 out of an appropriation of Pittsburgh councils for small parks. The cost of introducing features of industrial work into every playground so that all the children may be reached, exceeds in a measure, the enrolling of the work in one vacation school, which is attended by less than 600 children.

Pretty Colonial Entertainment.

An interesting colonial entertainment was given in the parish rooms of the Bellevue Church of the Epiphany, of which the Rev. George Gunnell is rector, by the Girls' club of the church. The affair consisted of a clever little sketch in four acts, entitled "A Daughter of Liberty," written by Miss Laura Irwin of Bellevue, and given by the girls in colonial costumes and powdered wigs. Those who took part were Miss Laura Irwin, Miss Grace Proven, Miss Eleanor Latshaw, Miss Sara McCleary, Miss Bertie Morrison, Miss Jane Harding, Miss Anna Bugher, Morgan Harding, Edward Kirschner, Howard Day, Joseph Walton and Russell Hodgson. An especially attractive feature was a minuet in the last act, danced by Miss Laura Irwin, Miss Grace Proven, Miss Sara McCleary and Miss Bertie Morrison. Between the acts of the playlet, tableaux from popular books were given. Among the characters were Miss Jane Harding as "Janice Meredith," Miss Jane Bugher, as "Tibby Drinker," from "Janice Meredith;" Miss Marion Smith, as "Virginia Carvel," and Joseph Walton as "Stephen Brice," from "The Crisis;" Miss Jane Bugher as "Mary Tudor;" Miss Anna Bugher, as "Dorothy Manners," Miss Sara McCleary, as "Richard Carvel." A musical program was also given by Miss Laura Irwin, piano, and Mr. Saunders of Pittsburgh, violin.

Concert at Pennsylvania College.

The annual concert of the glee and mandolin clubs of the Pennsylvania College for Women and the Shadyside academy was held last evening in Dilworth hall. The program was a very enjoyable one and was followed by a reception and informal dancing in the college parlors. The patronesses for the concert were Mrs. D. Chalmers Martin, Mrs. William Ralston Crubbe, Mrs. Henry H. King, Mrs. Ralph Baggaley, Mrs. Thomas M. Marshall, Mrs. Oliver McClintock, Mrs. Julian Kennedy, Mrs. David B. Oliver, Mrs. D. O. Hutchinson, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. Otis Shepard, Mrs. James H. McClelland, Mrs. Daggett, Mrs. McCutcheon, Mrs. C. O. Lappe, Mrs. H. A. Lappe, Mrs. J. L. Rose, Mrs. Thomas B. Riter and Mrs. A. W. McCloy.

Capt. R. P. Hobson Will Come.

Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson is coming to Pittsburgh to give an address at the eleventh annual celebration of the founding of Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, which will be a doubly interesting occasion, as it will also mark the observance of flag day. The celebration, which will be of the nature of a garden party at the home of Mrs. L. Hagley Williams, Shields Station, will take place on Tuesday, June 10. Capt. Hobson's address will be delivered at 4 o'clock, his subject being "The Navy and the Nation." Cards of invitation for the affair will be accompanied by time-cards and tickets and will be mailed early next week.

Forsaith—Smith.

In Sharpsburg, on Tuesday evening, May 27, the wedding of Miss Maud Babel Forsaith, daughter of J. S. Forsaith, and Campbell C. Smith, took place. The Rev. Mr. Graham, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church of Sharpsburg, officiated. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Smith went to New York, and intend visiting Boston, the White Mountains and Atlantic City, before their return in a couple of weeks. They will live in Sharpsburg. Mr. Smith is president of the Union Steel Casting Company and the Railway Casting Company.

Reception at Bellevue.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bole of Bellevue gave a handsomely appointed reception and card party last evening at their residence in Home avenue, for about 100 of their friends. There were 12 tables for six-handed euchre and six handsome prizes in cut glass and china were given. The color tones were pink and green, with the exception of the reception hall, where large clusters of red peonies were used effectively. Supper was served in the dining room after the games. Dancing for the younger people followed the refreshments.

Wedding Invitations Out.

Mr. and Mrs. William Metcalf of Fulton street have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Knapp Metcalf, and Henry Tod, of Edinburg, on Wednesday evening, June 11, in the new St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church in Oakland.

Notes of Society.

A concert was given last evening in the Carnegie Music hall for the benefit of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the poor.

The last of a series of three musicales was given yesterday afternoon at Thurston Preparatory school, the program being presented by the older pupils in the school.

The Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association held its regular monthly meeting yesterday morning at the Kindergarten college in Fifth avenue, Oakland.

Miss Laura Baldt gave a talk and demonstration of sewing yesterday afternoon before the member of the Joint Committee of Women's clubs in the Central Young Women's Christian association.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bergstresser will sail from New York tonight on the North German Lloyd steamer Hohenzollern for Genoa. They will go to spend a month in Germany, returning early in August. This is Mr. Bergstresser's thirty-second voyage across the Atlantic.

A Baltimore paper contains the following: "An engagement of much interest is that of Miss Mabel Stevenson Opie to Jack R. H. Smith, Jr. Miss Opie is the youngest daughter of Dr. Thomas Opie, and one of the most popular girls in society. Mr. Smith is a son of J. R. H. Smith of Pittsburgh, but has spent the last three years in Baltimore, where he has just completed the law course at the University of Maryland."

The old notion that only out-of-town residences require cool hangings in summer is exploded.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wheeling, W. Va., May 29.—Pittsburgh administered to the local team this afternoon the first defeat it has sustained this season. The Wheeling players were rather nervous when they faced the champions and the record-breaking crowd of spectators. Three thousand five hundred people passed through the gate, filled the grandstand and bleachers and encroached upon the diamond, making it necessary to establish a rule giving two bases upon a hit into the crowd.

Eddie Poole was enthusiastically cheered when he stepped into the box. The rooters were not as loyal as usual. They wanted Wheeling to win, but hated to see Poole lose his game. He is one of the most popular players who ever wore a Wheeling uniform. Wagner was given a warm reception also, and his brilliant work was frequently applauded. Burns had been groomed for a week to go into the box against the champions, and a systematic effort had been made to inject confidence into him. He pitched a good game and it required the visitors several innings to take his measure.

Selected a Spot for Their Hits.

When the mysteries of his delivery had been solved, the visitors selected a spot inside the left field foul line, where the crowd was largest, to place their safe ones. Five two-baggers dropped there and all were factors in the run-getting. Poole did not allow Wheeling a safe hit until the eighth inning, the crowd appealing to him to "give the boys a show."

The champions started scoring in the third, when Davis cracked out a nice single, advanced on Beaumont's life and Mahlin's fumble, and completed the circuit while the local infielders were tossing the ball around. Beaumont following at his heels. In the seventh O'Connor went around on his two-bagger in the crowd, followed by a drive by Davis to the same spot. Burns was touched up freely in the eighth. With two out Beaumont drove out a hit which took him to second. A fumble of a hit into the infield gave Ritchey a life and both runners crossed the plate on Leach's drive into the left field crowd. Leach crossed the plate on O'Connor's long single.

Errors Gave Wheeling Runs.

In the seventh Drumm hit into the infield and Bransfield allowed the throw to pass between his legs, Drumm going to second. Ritchey fell down on an easy chance given him by Flood and Drumm scored. In the next inning Wagner's wild throw made Cooper safe and he advanced to second, from which bag he came home on Ruling's single. In the ninth Flood drove a single to right and went to third on Needham's two bagger, scoring on Mahlin's long fly to Beaumont. The champions departed for Pittsburgh tonight. Score:

THE GOLF EXPERTS.

Amateur Champion Teams Had an Easy Win—Douglas Won a Hard Match.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The 16 teams still in the race for the Metropolitan championship at the opening of today's play at Tuxedo park could not have asked for better weather or better course conditions. In the early play W. J. Travis, the amateur champion, had little difficulty in defeating the veteran, J. M. Ward of Fox Hills.

F. S. Douglas, the present Metropolitan champion, had an interesting match with C. L. Tappin, Westbrook. The score stood dormie 4 in Douglas' favor, and then, thanks to a phenomenally long put by Tappin, domie 3. The next hole, which was halved, gave Douglas the match. Travis' record score of 74, made yesterday, was twice equalled in the morning play—by F. S. Douglas and by E. A. Marcellus.

The match between Travis and R. C. Watson, Jr., in the afternoon was very close, both men playing careful and at times brilliant golf. Travis was one up at the turn, but topped his next drive, and Watson won the tenth hole and made all square. Travis won the eleventh, Watson the twelfth, Travis the thirteenth, the fourteenth was halved, had his opponent 3 down. The champion won the eighteenth and the match, with a total score of 76.

The semi-final round will be played tomorrow.

A number of out-of-town dogs were entered and the fine condition of the hares made the sport extremely interesting. The next meet will be held at the same place one week from next Saturday.

YALE NOT IN IT.

Will Not Be Represented at Intercollegiate Conference.

COLLEGE TEAMS WILL CLASH TODAY

THE INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET PROMISES SOME FINE SPORT.

Best Talent in Western Pennsylvania Is Entered in the Annual Meet—Recreation Park Is in Fine Shape for the Athletes.

The W. U. P. invitation meet will be a great success. Final arrangements have been completed for the big meet and for the best of accommodations for a large crowd. Everyone can see everything that is going on, and that is something that was never afforded the people before at any track.

The 100-yard dash will be run down the center of the field, and Tim Hurst says it will prove to be the fastest in this part of the state. The entrance is on Allegheny avenue, and the Western avenue and Woods Run cars pass the gate.

A special from Washington, Pa., says: "The track and field team which will represent Washington and Jefferson college in the intercollegiate field and track meet at Recreation park will leave for Pittsburgh in the morning. The members of the team are all in good condition, and the team will be one of the strongest that ever represented the institution. The absence of Capt. Gill on account of the elimination of the hurdle races and the cutting out of the pole vault will necessarily weaken the team somewhat, but it will be a good one nevertheless. The claim made by Manager Martin of W. U. P. that W. & J. will have to give proof that Hayes, the big football tackle and one of the best men here in the weights, is not a professional is absurd. Hayes is a regular student in the sophomore class and never received a cent for taking part in athletics at W. & J. Manager Ewing stated today that Hayes would take his part in the meeting according to schedule or he would know the reason why. The general opinion prevails here that W. U. P. is trying to freeze W. & J. out of the meet, as the local team stands a good chance of winning. For this reason more than any other W. & J. will take seconds and thirds if possible, if the locals cannot win out on firsts. The team will consist of the following men: Wible, McCain, Ritchie, Aten, McElroy, Marshall, McNulty, Stonecipher, Work, Foster, Cleland, Gibson, McKnight, Hayes, Dickie, Sherrard, McDavitt, Truby, Sutter and Prowitt."

The trophy cup presented to the Interscholastic Athletic association by the members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange was selected yesterday and is now on exhibition in E. P. Roberts' window on Fifth avenue. The cup is a most handsome specimen of the jeweler's art, and stands 18 or 20 inches high. It is engraved as follows: "Stock Exchange Trophy Cup. Presented to the School Winning the Most Points at the Field Meet of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, Schenley Park Oval, May 31, 1902."

All arrangements are perfected for the meet Saturday. T. H. Laidley has consented to referee the affair, and under his experienced management the meet is bound to be a success. Among the men who will assist as officials are Dr. Kirchner of W. & J. college, Mr. Joe Thompson of Geneva college, John S. Barbour of Pittsburgh, Charles S. Miller, Prof. Cartwright, Prof. Suiter of W. U. P., Prof. MacColl and Mr. W. Moore. The first event will be run off promptly at 1:30.

BICYCLE RIDERS SHOW FINE GAIT IN PRACTICE

McFarland and Maya Reeled Off Some Fast Miles at Colosseum.

CALIFORNIAN VERY RAPID

He Went Five Miles Yesterday in Remarkable Time—A New Track Record Looked for When the Men Meet Tonight.

The weather yesterday was a little more favorable for training, and both Otto Maya and Floyd McFarland, who are to meet tonight in the 20-mile motor-paced race at the Colosseum in Allegheny, spent most of the day on the track. Maya rode a 20-mile workout yesterday morning, some of the miles being done in 1:30 and better. Maya's riding shows the good form he has attained in training for the events on the eastern tracks in which he has participated this season, and the holder of the Brassard trophy will make even as fast a man as McFarland do his best riding if he wants to keep in the race.

McFarland showed some remarkable speed in his trials yesterday morning. He rode five miles, going the first in 1:30, the second in 1:29, the third in 1:28, the fourth in 1:27 and the fifth in 1:26. The time as given above for both men was, of course, simply in workouts, where there was no contest, and as the race tonight, according to the statements of both riders, will be fast from the start, it is not improbable that a new record for a six-lap track will be established.

The field for both the half-mile and the one-mile amateur handicaps is large and some of the speediest amateur riders are entered.

The events tonight will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Since the opening night last Saturday a great deal of work has been done at the Colosseum and the management is prepared to take care of a comfortably big holiday crowd. Yesterday afternoon the walk leading from the entrance to the stand was covered with tanbark and everything is in good shape. The seats in the stand have been rearranged and additional lights put in, so that every part of the track can be seen plainly from any part of the stand. The oval inside the track, where the intercollegiate field meet will be held this afternoon, was completed yesterday.

Will Be Racing at White Hall.

There will be a race meet at the Whitehall track this afternoon and those who journey out there are sure to witness some fine sport. The entry list embraces 20 of the best steppers in this locality, and Manager Clark has offered some tempting purses. The track is in better shape than ever before.

CONCENTRATION PLAN A MEASURE OF REAL MERCY

Col. Wagner Contrasts Philippine Policy With Weyler's Reconcentrado Order.

PROTECTION TO NATIVES

Saved Them from Lawless Ladrones, and the Beneficiaries Were Well Fed and Contented—Praise from One of Aguinaldo's Ministers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., May 29.—The senate committee on Philippines today heard testimony of Col. A. L. Wagner, assistant adjutant general of the army, who spent two and one half years in the Philippines. He was questioned about the concentration camps and described the system by explaining the details of one particular camp.

In that camp the people were assembled according to villages, so that the people in all cases would have their old neighbors near them. So far as he had been able to observe there was no evidence of want among the people there congregated. Moreover, they were surprisingly contented. They were at liberty to go outside the line from 300 to 800 yards. Beyond that distance was called the dead line, beyond which the people were not permitted to go. The natives were given to understand that if they crossed this line they would be shot, but in reality the orders were not to shoot any helpless persons, or any others, if the shooting could be avoided.

Col. Wagner said one of the principal purposes of concentrating the native people in the Philippines was to protect them against the ladrones, which had been admirably accomplished, so that in many cases what was called the dead line was in reality the life line. Another object of the camps had been to facilitate the collection of the rice supplies in order to starve out the ladrones and guerillas.

Replying to Senator Beveridge, the witness said the people were fed and given medical supplies and the sanitation of their camps was looked after. The American camps in the Philippines no more could be compared with Weyler's reconcentrado camps in Cuba than mercy could be compared with cruelty.

Gen. Felipe Buencamino of Manila, formerly Aguinaldo's secretary of war, called on the president today in company with Secretary Root.

He told the president today that his mission to Washington is to correct some of the false reports that have been put in circulation with a view to discrediting the work of both the civil government under Judge Taft and the army.

PENNSYLVANIA INVESTS $60,000 IN WOODS RUN

Two Properties Secured for the Ohio Connecting Railway.

SALE IN SECOND AVENUE

South Highland Business Lot Brings $30,000—Fine Natatorium to Be Built in Duquesne Way—Apartment House for Brushton.

The Pennsylvania Company has purchased two properties at Woods Run for $60,000. One of them, located at Nos. 20 and 22 McClure avenue, was owned by Mrs. Sarah Hipple and brought $40,000. It consists of a lot 52x112 feet with a width in the rear of 13 feet. The property is close to the tracks of the Ohio Connecting railway and has erected thereon a three-story pressed brick, occupied by stores and dwellings. The other property, at Nos. 24-28 McClure avenue, adjoins Mrs. Hipple's and was bought from Charles Monheim for about $20,000. The lot is 56x112 feet, and is improved with three brick store buildings. The properties were secured through an Ohio agent, who gave the former owners the privilege of remaining in their homes until May 1 next, and also paid them $600 on the bargain. Plans have been prepared to double-track the Ohio Connecting railway its entire length and also to provide another approach to the bridge which crosses to Brunots Island. To do this will require a strip of about 20 feet wide, but with the exception of a few properties in Woods Run, the proposed improvement will affect no buildings.

New Natatorium in Prospect.

A new natatorium, to cost not less than $30,000, is in prospect for Duquesne way. It will be built on property now owned by Henry Phipps, next to the present natatorium. No details have been announced, but at a recent meeting of the directors of the Duquesne way establishment it was decided to erect the new building. The directors are: Frank M. Torrance, W. G. McCandless, James A. Chambers, J. C. Bergstresser and Emil E. Winter. It was from Mr. Bergstresser that the first news of the project came. According to his statement the new building will be the best equipped in the country. A special feature will be made of Turkish baths, for which there has been a great demand in this city. The entire building will have white tile floors and will be lined with white marble. Rumors have been current for some time of another Turkish bath establishment, but it was generally supposed that it was to be erected in Sixth avenue near Smithfield street.

A $40,000 Deal in Second Avenue.

The Real Estate Trust Company has sold the property at Nos. 333-335 Second avenue for $40,000. It was formerly owned by Margaret Lang, F. G. Fricke, Charles F. Meyer and others, heirs of George J. Young, and was bought by John F. Young. The lot measures 45 feet on the north side of Second avenue, near Smithfield street, and has a depth of 80 feet. It is improved with two brick warehouses. Some time ago a rumor was current that the property had been leased by J. C. Bailey, but it seems this deal did not materialize. The present purchaser takes the lot for an investment and no immediate changes are contemplated.

The Real Estate Trust Company also sold for Mrs. E. Lee to William P. Jones, cashier of the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, a vacant lot, 125x350 feet, in Parkview boulevard, Oakland. The property overlooks Schenley park and is one of the finest locations in the ward. It was bought for $7,500 and will be improved with a modern brick residence.

Business Property Changes Hands.

Another business lot in the Baum Grove district has changed hands, the transfer having been made from J. R. Mellon to Mrs. Dorethea Gerhart for $30,000. The deal was negotiated by J. W. Sherrer. The property is known as Nos. 128-122 South Highland avenue, and is situated on the west side of the avenue. The lot has a frontage of 45 feet and a depth of 150 feet, with a width in the rear of 65 feet. The three one-story brick store buildings on the lot are occupied by R. A. M. Steele, electrician; Mrs. Mary McChesney, and Mrs. N. Livingstone, millinery. The purchaser took the property for an investment and contemplates improving it in the near future with a modern building. There has been a gradual drift the past year toward this district for business purposes, and this location is considered a good one for stores.

Louis H. Hall has sold to James M. Bell a lot, 55x120 feet, on the south side of Howe street, near College avenue, Twentieth ward, for $13,000. The lot is improved with a good residence.

Moderate Priced Apartments.

A new apartment house, to cost $30,000, is to be erected in Brushton by Robinson & Bruckman. It will be a three-story brick building, 40x100 feet, with a pressed brick front and tile roof. The flats will contain five and six rooms each, and will be provided with private baths and finished throughout in hardwood. Plans for the building are completed and it is expected the work of construction will begin soon. The flats will rent for about $25 a month, and the demand for such dwellings in this section, this year, is evidence that the venture will be successful.

Architect R. Maurice Trimble has awarded the contract for the Ohio Valley bank in Preble avenue, Allegheny, to Langenheim & Cochran. The building will be one of the neatest bank structures in either city and will cost about $30,000. The first floor is to have tile floors with marble wainscoting, and the upper floors will be finished in hard wood for offices. Work will be rushed so that the bank can occupy its quarters on the first floor October 1.

In the Architects' Offices.

Architects Struthers & Hannah have awarded the contract to A. & S. Wilson for the erection of the residence of H. C. Bair, at the corner of Highland and Elgin avenues. The house will be a colonial residence, built of brick and stone, and will contain 20 rooms. The estimated cost is $50,000.

Architect James T. Steen is asking bids on three double brick colonial houses for Robert Hartley. They will be built in Shady avenue, near Fifth avenue, and will cost $15,000 each. The houses will have 12 rooms each, with two bath rooms and a hardwood finish throughout.

Architect W. J. Shaw will take bids June 5 on the Bellevue school house. The building will contain nine school rooms with all modern accessories, and will cost about $10,000.

Architect Rieger & Carrier will close bids Saturday on the heating, lighting, chandeliers, tile work and hardwood finish, on the building of the Charleroi Savings and Trust Company.

Under a Common Roof.

John F. Baxter and S. D. Ache have moved from the Carnegie building to the Fitzsimmons building where the offices of the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company, with which they are identified, will have headquarters. The new company will open for business soon after June 1.

"Red Raven Stits" is to have a new home in Harmar. The Duquesne Distributing Company, which manufactures the product, has just completed the purchase of an acre of ground from W. J. Koontz and will improve it at once with a fireproof building, 50x100 feet, and two stories high. This will be equipped with the latest machinery and will be ready for occupancy about September 1.

THE OIL FIELDS.

South of the Yellow creek development in Calhoun county, W. Va., Mallory Bros & Co. have made a new discovery that resulted in considerable importance in the way of opening up some new Berea grit territory. The well was drilled with a view to developing a producer in the Gantz sand, but it proved a failure in that formation and was drilled down to the Berea grit, and is showing for a 75-barrel producer in that formation. Several other wells previously drilled to this level showed a little oil in the Gantz sand, while one just completed in on Lewis Hambrick farm by Mallory Bros. & Co. prove as good as is now indicated, will lead to some active operations in that quarter.

On Big Knot run, Clay district, Ritchie county, the same company has drilled its No. 5 on the C. C. Weekly farm into the Keener sand and has developed a strong gas pressure. With deeper drilling it may produce oil.

In the old Flat run district in Monongalia county, Chartiers Oil Company has completed its No. 1 on the P. Ammons farm and has a 25-barrel producer in the Big Injun sand. This well was delayed many months with a tedious string of tools.

North of Central station, Doddridge county, the Carter Oil Company's wildcat on the Carter Harris farm has declined to 100 barrels a day.

In the Sellers district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company is drilling in the stray sand at its No. 9 on the Smith Varner farm and has developed a little oil and gas but is forging ahead to the Gordon. In the same district the South Penn is drilling in the sand at its test well on the A. L. Swiger farm.

In Meade district, Tyler county, the South Penn Company has drilled its No. 5 on the M. J. Fairfax farm into the Cow run sand and has a show for a small pumper. It is now drilling to the Big Injun sand.

In Jefferson district, Pleasants county, W. C. Patterson & Co. have completed their No. 5 on the C. K. Williamson farm and have a duster in the Cow run sand.

Southeastern Ohio.

On the Ohio side in the shallow sand territory in the Chester Hill district in Morgan county, Crawford & Co. have completed their test well on the John Perviance farm and have a duster.

Near Troy, in the same county, the Midland company has completed its No. 152 on the E. R. Dale tract and has a duster.

In the same district the National Oil Company of New York has completed its No. 18 on the G. C. Llanbeth farm and has a duster.

On Wolf creek G. C. Best, Jr., has completed his No. 13 on the N. E. Russell farm and has a duster in the shallow sand.

In the Caldwell district, Washington county, Delong, Williams & Co. have drilled their No. 5 on the Peter Ellson farm through the 500-foot sand and have a duster.

It is a remarkable coincidence that Southeastern Ohio did not complete a producing well in any field yesterday.

The Local Fields.

In the Murdocksville extension, in Washington county, Pa., W. C. Kennedy & Co. have drilled in their No. 16 on the J. W. Merrell farm and the Hanover Oil Company has drilled in its No. 8 on the McConnell farm. Both wells are showing for good producers. In the same district the Forest Oil Company has drilled in its No. 4 on the G. W. Cain farm and the Hanover Oil Company has drilled in its No. 5 on the Dorman heirs' farm, and both are showing for light wells.

Near Greggs station, Allegheny county, the Glen Rock Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the W. E. Ross farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper.

In the Speedley sand territory in Butler county the Troutman Oil and Gas Company has completed a test well on the Emory & Campbell farm; also No. 3 on the I. N. Campbell farm, and will have a brace of average Speedley sand producers.

EXPECTED RALLY FAILED TO MAKE AN APPEARANCE

The Prices of Cereals Were Pushed Down to a New Level.

FARMERS ARE TOO BUSY

Indications Go to Show That Weather Conditions Are All That Could Be Asked for and That the Countrymen Are Rushing to Market.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, May 29.—Bull speculators in grains who figured confidently on a rally in prices after yesterday's serious slump came to grief again today. For a time they took hold of a few early bull arguments and upheld the pits, but made to order weather and indications that the farmer was rushing his old holdings to market pushed all prices down to a new level. July wheat closed ⅝c lower, July corn ¾c depressed and July oats ¼@⅜c down. Provisions closed 2½c lower to 2½c higher.

Most of the influences in the wheat pit favored sellers, yet support from a strong quarter and the comparative firmness of the foreign markets kept prices fairly firm for the first hour. Cables showed a little decline, but were not bearish. Advices did state, however, that there was pressure of spot wheat on the English market, a great quantity of stuff due to arrive off the coast and fine weather abroad.

Corn Helped for a Time.

Buying by a big house that suggested satisfaction with the price brought in a number of "tailers" and helped prices. For a time corn helped wheat, but it soon became apparent that the bears had the situation in hand again. The weather in the winter wheat belt was warm with rains and in the northwest clear and warmer. Bears laid great stress on this argument and were thriving on fine crop prospects. Receipts were increasing; in the way of novelty a car of Texas new wheat was shipped in and on its harvesting the southwest sold. No additional export business came to the relief and everything slumped. July opened ⅛@¼c to a shade lower at 72⅝c to 72¾c and dipped to 72c, closing weak and ⅝c down at 72⅜@72¾c. Local receipts were 21 cars, one of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 203 cars, making a total for the three points of 224 cars, against 123 last week. A year ago the day was a holiday. Primary receipts, 314,000 bushels. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 370,000 bushels.

Anxious for Real News.

Everyone with interests in corn was alert at the opening to see what stand the farmers would take on the cheap bids sent out last night. These bids, of course, were reduced under those which brought out the big acceptances yesterday, but still the country let go between 300,000 and 400,000 bushels. Cables, however, showed indifference to our slump yesterday and the big bull crowd supported fairly well for a time. This kept July firm early to its yesterday's closing price. Then came the advice that the receipts tomorrow would be 295 cars. This looked to the traders very much as though the farmers were rushing their stuff to market. Trade turned very bearish, bears sold short and when the small support of the Wall street crowd was taken away prices dropped 1c. Good crop reports keep coming to market and weather reports are as good as can be desired. The cash demand was only fair. July opened a shade higher to ¼@⅝c lower at 68c to 62⅝c, slumped to 62c and closed weakest of the options, ⅝c under at 62⅛@62¼c. Receipts were excessive at 226 cars.

Nervousness in Oats.

The only feature to the trade in oats was the nervousness accompanying the May "deal." Several small trades in this option caused fluctuations of 1c. Otherwise the market was dull and unimportant. Many of the shorts in May are settling quietly with the operator who successfully cornered that delivery. It is now thought the "deal" is practically over and that no excitement will witness its close on Saturday. Crop advices for the growing oats state that they are in better condition than any of the grains. July new sold off from 37⅛c on the weakness in the other pits to 36⅝c and closed weak and ⅛@⅜c down at 36⅜c. Receipts were liberal at 220 cars.

The strike of the teamsters of the big Chicago packing houses began to have a bearish effect on provisions today. At the opening prices were strong on a run of hogs, 18,000 head under the estimate. Packers manipulated the pit for higher prices and then unloaded lard and ribs on the crowd.

Closing Prices of Provisions.

This, together with the grain weakness and the strike, lost the pit all its early gains and brought net recessions in some options. July pork closed 2½c down at $17 05; July lard, a shade lower at $10 15, and July ribs, 2½c up at $9 65.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 20 cars; corn, 295 cars; oats, 195 cars; hogs, 20,000 head.

Tomorrow being Decoration day and a legal holiday there will be no business on the board of trade.

COMBINE FORCED TO REVEAL PRICE POLICY FOR 1903

Pressure of Business for Year So Great That Early Declaration Is Needed.

CONTRACT WORK RUSHING

Pressure Greatest in Structural Forms and Rails—Gossip About the Possible Tobacco Consolidation—Dividend Disbursements.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 29.—It is learned on excellent authority that the United States Steel Corporation will announce soon its price policy for 1903.

Ordinarily a steel company is not expected to do this until later in the old year; but the United States Steel Corporation finds nearly all of its old plants booked for the maximum of their capacity for the remainder of this year, and orders are pressing for delivery in 1903. Quite a lot of business already has been booked for 1903 delivery on the present price basis, but most of these orders, in one respect or another, have been "special," and in some instances hedged about with qualifications. Some business has been accepted at current prices to be delivered either late this year or early next year at the convenience of the combine, all of which now have to go over until next year.

Another kind of business for which the combine has taken large orders running into 1903 is structural steel contract work, involving not only material, but construction as well. The American Bridge Company, for example, has on hand orders for bridge and office construction work which cannot be finished in the current year, and which was not intended to be finished until some time in 1903. The pressure of orders is so large that the management of the combine has found it necessary to open its books for 1903 in the regular way, and hence the forthcoming announcement of a policy as to next year's prices.

Steel Rails Included.

Structural forms and steel rails are the two products most in demand for 1903 delivery. It is current information in trade circles that very large orders for steel rails, to be delivered next year, will be placed soon with the United States Steel Corporation. The expected announcement of policy will cover practically all of the products of the combine, and the books will then be opened for 1903 orders for various grades of material in any quantity desired.

It is understood that the price policy for 1903 will be very similar to that for the current year. It is believed, at least, that there will be no important changes in quotations. A very large amount of business placed for delivery during this year will have to go over to 1903.

A prominent interest said today that the net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for May are expected to be in excess of $13,000,000.

Small Month for Corporations.

The aggregate amount of capital represented by the companies that took out papers of incorporation in New Jersey, New York, Maine, Delaware and South Dakota during the current month was $228,953,000, the smallest total in any month since September of last year, when $140,000,000 was reported. The aggregate capital of the companies that took out papers of incorporation in New Jersey last month was $129,956,000; New York, $25,037,000; Maine, $27,617,000; Delaware, $10,025,000, and South Dakota, $16,620,000.

Among the steel companies incorporated in New Jersey this month were the following: Southern Coal & Iron Company, $30,000,000; Cleveland Furnace Company, $1,000,000; Sovereign Foundry & Manufacturing Company, $125,000; United States Tool Company, $100,000, and Pittsburgh Valve & Fittings Company, $300,000.

Possible Tobacco Consolidation.

The consensus of opinion in tobacco circles is that the next move on the part of the tobacco trust will be toward the acquisition of the Universal Tobacco Company. The manner in which the Consolidated Tobacco Company acquired the Henry Clay & Bock & Co. and the Havana Commercial Company, seems to indicate that the operation of transferring the Universal to the trust would not meet with many obstacles. Since it became known that the Consolidated had acquired the three leading Cuban companies, reports have been current that the latter owned considerable Universal stock, but interests of the latter concern continue to deny these rumors and supplement their statements with the assertion that the Universal will remain an independent company.

The statement was made today that the tobacco trust would proceed at once to reorganize the Havana Commercial Company and the Henry Clay & Bock & Co. It is the purpose of the company to enter into the culture and manufacture of tobacco in Cuba on a much broader scale than ever before attempted. With this object in view, millions of dollars will be invested in the tobacco business of that island.

Dividend Disbursements.

There will be disbursed this month by railroad, industrial and miscellaneous corporations $47,476,000 in interest and in dividends. The total is slightly in excess of the payments in the corresponding month of last year and compares with $54,000,000 in May, 1900. Industrial organizations will disburse $19,000,000 in dividends; railroads, $6,113,751, and traction companies, $2,519,388, a total of $25,633,139.

Tennessee Coal Conference.

Representatives of the mining properties in the Coal Creek district of Tennessee, which Elverton R. Chapman is trying to bring into a combination, are now in New York conferring with another group with agents of the prospective purchasers. Frank H. Buhl, formerly president of the Sharon Steel Company, also is here. He is interested in some of the mining properties involved. Although it is intimated that satisfactory progress is being made, no definite statement can be obtained. E. W. HARDEN.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 29.—A Cripple creek correspondent writes that the general showing of the camp is very satisfactory and that the latter half of the year will break the record in production. Much important work is being done by lessees. The outlook at the larger mines is good. Stratton's Independence, Gold Coin, Mary McKinney, Last Dollar, Ajax and others are still making heavy output and the operations of Tabor, the Elkton and Dr. Jack Pot are again improving. New strikes are reported almost daily, and, taken altogether, the outlook for the great gold camp is bright and assuring.

The recent gold strike 12 miles east of Hot Springs Junction, Ariz., is regarded as a wonder by old miners. The ledge is 60 feet wide and everything taken out of a 60-foot cross-cut averages from $5 to $6, while four feet on the foot wall runs about $16 to the ton.

Within six weeks the Monarch mine at Leadville, which is owned by the Ohio and Colorado Smelting Company, now building the large smelter at Salida, will be shipping 300 tons of ore a day as a starter to its new plant.

A dispatch from Albuquerque, N. M., notes the discovery in Valencia county of an immense deposit of lithographic stone of good quality.

The King Solomon on Salmon river, California, produces some very rich quartz, going as high as $400 to the ton. It is a 16-foot ledge of soft porphyry, like formed interspersed with hard quartz. Most of the rock contains so much sulphurets that smelting is required.

The Metal Market.

The New York metal exchange will be closed from this afternoon until Monday morning. The local market today was quiet, with prices with a slight gain in prices, spot closing at 39 to 39¼c. London closed 10s higher, with spot at £136 and futures at £133. Copper was about 15s lower at New York, with standard spot to August quoted at $11.65@11.90; lake, $12 25@12 60; electric, $12.00@12.25, and casting at $12 00@12 25. At London the prices for copper were 2s 6d higher, closing spot and future at £54. Lead was steady and unchanged at New York at $4 12½. London was 2s lower at £11 6s 3d. Spelter ruled quiet here and unchanged at $4 75. London was 2s 6d lower at £18 5s. The local market for iron was steady. Warrants quiet; No. 1 foundry northern, $19 50@20 50; No. 2 foundry northern, $19 50@20 50; No. 1 foundry southern, $18 50@19 50; No. 2 foundry southern, soft, $18 50@19 50. The English markets were higher. Glasgow closed at 54s 3d and Middlesboro at 49s 6d.

Traders Waiting for Holiday Finish

LITTLE WORK WAS DONE IN STOCK MARKET

Movement in General List Was Listless and Narrow Yesterday.

RUMORS OF STRIKE LIMIT

Shorts, However, Paid Little Attention to the Report That Bituminous Miners Would Walk Out in Sympathy With Anthracite Men.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 29.—The new commitments in the stock market today were of entirely insignificant proportion, owing to the fear of possible developments over the triple holiday. There was some closing up of open accounts, however and as these proved to be mostly on the short side the tone of the market was rather firm in sympathy with the leaders. The movement in the general list was listless and very narrow. The leader of the market in point of activity was Reading, and its advance of nearly two points was attributed in large degree to the demand from shorts to cover in the fear that a strike settlement might be reached between now and next Monday.

The immediate news today did not favor such a presumption. President Fowler of the Ontario & Western authorized an emphatic denial of reports that concessions to the strikers were contemplated on the part of the operators.

More Strike Rumors Abroad.

The reported utterance of F. P. Sargent of the arbitration committee of the Civic Federation that he believed a sympathetic strike probable among the soft coal miners was also given some attention, but this did not reassure traders short of the market sufficiently to induce them to remain uncovered for an interval of three days. The advance in Canadian Pacific was also renewed, in spite of denials of reported buying for control in behalf of Northern Securities interest. An interesting feature of the week's currency movement is the shipment to Canada of some $2,000,000 by Canadian branch banks, which is supposed to be due to transactions in Canadian Pacific. Notwithstanding this movement and the absorption of nearly $1,000,000 on subtreasury operations, the receipts of cash from the interior on balance are estimated thus far this week at nearly $3,000,000, thus promising a strong bank statement for next Saturday. The promise today of the British parliamentary leader of a statement on next Monday concerning the peace negotiations was regarded in speculative circles as tantamount to an announcement of peace.

Today's bond market shared in the dullness of the stock market and the closing was semi-stagnant below the best.

Total sales of bonds, par value, $2,125,000.

Speculation Neglected.

Speculation in stocks this week has been rather neglected and the course of prices has been hesitating and irregular. This has been partly due to the approach of the triple holiday, with its possibilities of important developments at a time when the closed market would preclude the opportunity for taking advantage of them. The continuation of the anthracite miners' strike has had some repressive influence upon speculation, but has not weakened the coal stocks themselves. The shortage of coal has had perceptible effect upon other industries, notably iron and steel, and there has been dread that the trouble would spread to the soft coal fields by sympathy, which would be a damaging development for the iron trade.

With the exception of the anthracite strike, conditions have appeared extraordinarily favorable. In spite of the great shrinkage in the volume of grain traffic compared with this time last year, railroad earnings continue to show an average percentage of increase over last year of 8 per cent or more.

Local Stocks Were Very Dull and the Market Irregular in Tone

BOOM IN THE BANK STOCKS IS PROLONGED

Several New High Records Were Reached in the Bid Prices.

GENERAL LIST VERY DULL

Union Trust Co. Deal Topic of Conversation—First and Second National Banks Higher—Steel Stocks Quiet—River Coal Preferred Active

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was very dull and quite irregular, the tone at the close showing a somewhat easier feeling. The features of the day were again in the banking group and several institutions made new high records in prices. The principal topic of conversation, both on and off the street, was the deal announced between the T. Mellon & Sons bank and the Union Trust Company. It was probably the greatest and most complete surprise the "street" has ever had. For some time past there have been all sorts of rumors of consolidations and mergers, but no one ever dreamed of the Mellons' bank getting into anything of the kind. The announcement, however, had very little effect on the stocks concerned. Union Trust quoted unchanged at $1,200 bid, while Citizens National was quoted at 209½ bid and 112 asked. Par—$100—is the price the Mellons have offered to pay to the minority holders who did not sell out to H. C. Frick when he secured control, and this is all speculative purchasers will probably realize on their holdings. The Citizens National yesterday moved into the Union Trust Company's building, where it will transact its business for the present, at least, as formerly. In the issues that sold Cosmopolitan National bank advanced $2 to 107½, a new high record. Iron City National went up $1 to $119, and Traders and Mechanics $2 to $70. The only trust stock to sell was Colonial Trust, 48 shares changing hands at 350@386, an advance of $1. Real Estate Trust offered at 291 without bids. In the quotations City Deposit bank advanced $1 to $160 bid; First National $15 to $640 bid; Mechanics National $3 to $135 bid and Second National $31 to $811 bid, all being new high records. The Union Trust Company deal has not cleared the air in the least of the combine rumors, and other big announcements are expected. President Gorman of the Mechanics National says the report that his bank is to be absorbed by the First National is too absurd to deny, yet, lest he might be thought equivocal, he pronounced it absolutely false and without foundation in fact. What advanced Second National is a guess, but the gossips "guess" it's another deal. In the general list there was very little doing. There was heavy selling—1,200 shares of River Coal preferred at 41½, but the stock closed firmer at 41⅝ bid. The other coalers were dull and unchanged. The reports regarding a change in the management of the Crucible Steel Company had absolutely no effect on its stocks. The common closed steady and ⅛ higher at 22, while the preferred finished ⅛ higher at 85¾. At these prices there were over 2,000 shares of each offered, and the buying stopped. The trading in United States Steels was entirely insignificant. Electric seconds and Airbrake were also very dull. Window Glass was steady. Pressed Steel Car reacted ⅝ to 40, but closed a shade firmer at 40⅝. Fire Proofing and Brewing common were unchanged and quiet. Bonds were fairly active and firm.

Commencing tomorrow we will offer our recent purchases of Men's Clothing, at an average of 63c on the dollar, from the foremost Eastern Manufacturing Firms, including Steefel, Strauss & Connors and A. Dinkelspiel & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., and Alfred Benjamin & Co., Cohn & Co., Fechheimer, Fichel Co. and Hornthal, Benjamin & Riem, of New York. Stylish dressers everywhere wear them. And, now, owing to our most fortunate underprice purchases, you can buy these choice Spring and Summer Suits for nearly two-fifths below actual value.
